OFFICIALS OF WATER CO. TO COME TO CITY

Judge Flannery to Meet City
Commission During Early Part of May

CONTRACT DISCUSSED

Phases of Water Question
Informally Placed Before Commissioners

The city commission was informed last night by President A. P. Lenhart that Judge George F. Flannery of St. Paul and associates desired to meet the members of the city commission here sometime after May 1 to discuss the Bismarck Water Supply company question. The commission was asked to fix a date on the last day of the week because of Mr. Flannery's duties at the trust company of which he is president. The commission will meet the matter of fixing a date to President Lenhart. It is likely the conference will be on May 5 or May 12.

The water question was brought up by Gen. E. A. Williams, a former member and former president of the city commission, who said he was defeated for the council 30 years ago when he ran on a platform of a municipally owned water plant. Gen. Williams, appearing, he said, on his own motion, asked the city commission to have published in pamphlet form the extended franchise and contract the city has with the Bismarck Water Supply company, saying it had an important bearing upon the question the citizens were to vote on.

He said he had no objection to acquiring a municipally owned water plant, and that he had always believed that as long as the plant was in private hands there would be friction. He said he wished the information published because citizens ought to be informed on the matter.

Commissioner Thompson said that it would be of no avail to publish the contract, that the railroad commission had broken every contract the city had with every utility. He suggested a public meeting at the Auditorium where all sides of the water question would be discussed. There was informal discussion about the franchise, which was extended on May 26, 1915, by the city commission for nine years from May 26, 1926 to May 26, 1935. The franchise contained a contract for hydrant rental, for 74 hydrants. The city now has over 80. Mr. Williams said there was a question as to whether or not, if the city built a plant, it would not still have to keep up its contract with the water company for the 74 hydrants until 1935. He said, of course, this was a legal question.

The opinion was voiced from the commission that if the bonds were voted on May 14 the city commission would be free to act, either in building a new plant or acquiring the present, but if they failed the door would be closed altogether for years to come, and nothing would be done.

Include Power Plant Bids.

The commission formally instructed the city engineer to include in specifications an oil-burning engine power plant for furnishing power for pumping water. A representative of the Fairbanks-Morse company who sought to receive a bid had gone to Minneapolis to consult the company's office there and specifications would be presented next Monday night, City Engineer Atkinson said. Bids for the new plant are to be received May 28.

A petition was received from a number of people living in the west part of the city, asking the commission to enact an ordinance prohibiting the keeping and maintaining of horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, goats, etc. on their premises within limits as follows: Beginning at the intersection of Mandan avenue and N. P. Ry. Co. north to section line, thence west to intersection of section line and Griffin street, thence south to intersection of Griffin street and N. P. Ry. Co. thence southeasterly, following the northernmost boundary of said right-of-way to point of beginning. The petitions and a draft of an ordinance were submitted by City Attorney O'Hare in lieu of action taken by the commission last Monday night, directing legal steps to prevent erection of the Schneider barn near the swimming pool, the city attorney expressing the opinion the city could not legally stop the building until it should become a nuisance.

A petition was received from 23 people living near 231 Seventh street, south complaining of condition of premises occupied by Peter Reinick. The city health officers was instructed to take action.

Sidewalk Bids

Bids for cement sidewalk work for the year were received, Wm. J. Noggle being awarded the contract as lowest bidder. Bids were: Wm. J. Noggle, cement walk in place 13 3/4 cents per sq. ft.; earth excavation 75 cents per cu. yd.; relaying filling 75 cents per cu. yd.; straight (Continued on page three)

TWO-YEAR-OLD BABY PASSES COLLEGE INTELLIGENCE TEST

JACK SCHWABENLAND

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN.
NEA Service Staff Writer.

Philadelphia, April 24.—A baby, only two years old can read, tell time, count to a hundred, distinguish geometric forms, and converse in English and German.

He is the youngest child to pass a series of tests conducted by the University of Pennsylvania for superior children. "The psychologist who examined him says he is one child in thousands."

Yet Mrs. John C. Schwabenland, the mother, doesn't think her Jack is a baby wonder.

"He's just a healthy little boy," she says, "and that counts more than anything else."

"We hardly expected him to grow up this way, for the first four months of his life were spent in a hospital. We despaired of his life. Then suddenly he began sprouting out—a regular fellow."

"I never studied any books on bringing up children. I never had any specialized training in education. But I've always used my common sense."

"When I noticed that the baby didn't like dolls, I didn't force any on him. And when I saw that he took to books and picture books, I let him have them."

"I guess that started him."

On to what?

Mrs. Schwabenland doesn't know and doesn't care.

"I have no dream of him growing up a genius," she says. "I have no illusions about his becoming great. It may all be but a flash in the pan. He will grow up as he wants."

Educators, however, see a great future for him if he is properly trained. But they warn against forcing knowledge.

"We're not forcing him," says his mother. "If anything, we have to hold him back."

"He began talking when he was eight months old, and started walking when he was a year."

The boy rode into the room on his toy auto.

After a formal introduction, he withdrew to his mother's side.

He didn't seem to care much about speaking about himself. He was more concerned in asking questions. "Who's the man?" he wanted to know.

His mother told him, but he wasn't much impressed—until I showed interest in his auto.

A tightening of a loose bolt—and a friendship was cemented. The boy began to loosen up.

When asked what came after 70, he promptly replied:

"Eighty."

When asked to read, he picked up a nursery book, and went through the alphabet like a streak. Then he read words picked out at random.

Hard ones like "Xerxes" and "Zouave" were as easy to him as "cat" and "rat."

He could distinguish a triangle from a rectangle. Then his mother drew a difficult one. One glance, and the answer from Jack:

"That's a rhomboid." And it was. Then he told time—on the hour, only, however—spoke some German with his mother, and grew restless.

As a crowning feat, he went to the piano and played "Three O'Clock in the Morning."

By banging three times with his little fist.

Then he mounted his little car and rode off laughing.

At the university Jack passed the Witmer form board test.

"This," explained Dr. Lightner Witmer, head of the psychology department, "tests the child's intelligence—his ability to solve new problems. Most children of six years pass it, about 60 per cent of four-year-olds, about 25 per cent of three-year-olds, but never before a two-year-old child."

The tests consist of removing 12 differently shaped blocks from a

No Record of Burial Permit
Found to Back up Camp
Physician's Statement

Tallahassee, Fla., April 24.—With evidence in the investigation of Martin Tabert of North Dakota virtually completed the joint legislative committee which has been taking testimony awaited a report of a subcommittee appointed to visit Tabert's grave.

Attention was turned today on the action of house and senate on the recommendation of Governor Hardie for removal of Sheriff Jones of Leon county for alleged irregularities in office as testified to by witnesses in the Tabert hearing. Jones, witnesses said, and J. B. Willis, county judge, together with other county law enforcing officers, were habitually drunk. Jerry M. Poppell, former jailor, told the committee Jones treated prisoners cruelly. Jones admitted a private arrangement with the Putnam Lumber company by which he was to receive $20 for each vagrant delivered to the private convict camp.

The hearing yesterday was marked by the introduction of the state—Black Army—with which Walter Higginbotham, it is alleged, bent Tabert to death. Witnesses admitted that the whip had been altered since the Tabert flogging. Another factor was introduction of evidence which was intended to show that Dr. Capen Jones, who attended Tabert before and after his death, had not filed a death certificate as he said when he testified before the committee. The state board of health said they had no record of the certificate while Dr. Jones said he could not account for the discrepancy. Inasmuch as he filed it, an invitation was extended to the committee by the lumber company to visit the camp and inspect Tabert's grave.

Tallahassee, Fla., April 24.—The Florida senate acted promptly on the first recommendation to grow out of the legislative investigation of the death of Martin Tabert of North Dakota—the recommendation of Governor Hardie that Sheriff J. R. Jones of Leon county be removed from office.

No record of any burial permit for Martin Tabert, as located by the Florida state board of health, the joint legislative committee inquiring into the youngster's death and other reported prison brutalities, was notified today by Dr. Raymond C. Turk, state health officer.

The committee then voted to appoint a subcommittee to go to the Mingo cemetery and other places near Clara, Florida, where Tabert is said to have been buried, and exhumed the body. A disinterment permit has been granted the committee by the state health officer.

Late yesterday the committee virtually concluded hearing evidence in the case with the exception of awaiting a report from its subcommittee, which will leave here Wednesday for Clara. The subcommittee will take along Arthur Johnson, a former convict, who declared he and three other men buried Tabert in a spot other than the place designated by witnesses appearing for the Putnam Lumber Company, at whose lease camp Tabert met his death.

Health Officer Testifies

Dr. Turk informed the committee that the state board of health had no knowledge that Tabert died in Florida, until the information was revealed through the newspapers. Investigation is pending to determine who was responsible for filing the death certificate and reporting the case.

Dr. T. Capen Jones, physician for the Putnam Lumber Company, has testified before the committee that he made out a burial permit, giving the cause of Tabert's death as due "primarily to pneumonia with a complication of malaria." This, the doctor said, was incorrect.

Five sets of extradition papers being perfected here ask the provision for the arrest of Mrs. Phillips and Carson.

JOSEPH BULL, PIONEER, DIES

Diabetes Caused Death After Six Days' Illness

Joseph W. Bull, 84, veteran of the Civil war, pioneer resident of Bismarck, and well known property owner, died at a local hospital this afternoon at 3 o'clock after suffering for six days with diabetes.

This was Mr. Bull's first ill. (His friends report that they had never known of him to be confined to his bed by illness in his life. The deceased was engaged in the real estate business and was an extensive property owner, owning large tracts suitable for additions to Bismarck. He made his home in the Grand Pacific hotel, and is survived by his wife and a son, Carleton. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

A big crowd turned out for the rehearsal of the Elks' minstrels last night and quite a number of parts were assigned. Among those who will have solo numbers are "Rank" Halverson, Frank Gale, E. H. Ferner and George Humphreys. Many new faces will be seen in the line up this year and the comedy end will be especially strong. No surprise acts will be presented and all ready there is much speculation among the members as to who will be seen in these parts. Another big rehearsal is called for 7:30 tonight at which time more parts and songs will be assigned.

Fargo, April 24.—"Insurgent" Non-partisan League supporters of the new league weekly newspaper "The Progressive" to be published today for the first time by John Andrews, former editor of the Fargo Courier News as editor, and P. L. Aarhus, also a former disaffected head of the Fargo Courier-News, as manager, who claim that the right of the farmer-stockholders of the Courier-News was sold out from under them without their consent to the present owner, the Fargo Tribune company, will seek legal redress of their claims against the old company, it was announced here today by Mr. Andrews.

A meeting held here by stockholders representing farmer-members of the old corporation, a litigation committee composed of State Senator John Middleton of Wimbledon, C. J. Peterson of Bisbee, W. L. Foster of Hillsboro, State Senator C. J. Olson of Valley City, and Mrs. Frank Elliott of Hillsboro, was appointed to sound out legal remedies.

The claim of the disaffected stockholders is that the Courier-News was bought in the first instance with money which the farmers of the state contributed and that control was lost through complicated transactions within the company. They claim they still have controlling equity within the property notwithstanding the more recent sale to the Fargo Tribune company.

The Progressive will be under the complete control of John Andrews and will start with a circulation of about 10,000 and 12,000 copies, the editor said.

Three Spectacular Fires in Minneapolis Cause Big
Loss

Minneapolis, April 24.—Exploding acetylene gas tanks hurled debris two blocks late Saturday as a $100,000 fire gutted three manufacturing plants at Washington avenue, SE, and Erie street, less than an hour after a 2-11 alarm in a weeked four-story building at 30-32 East Hennepin avenue, with a loss of $35,000.

Both fires were spectacular. Streetcar and motor traffic was blocked, thousands of spectators crowded about, only to flee when acetylene tanks exploded, in one case, and when fire threatened 100 oil tanks, in the other.

The firms which suffered losses in the fires—

J. C. Witte Manufacturing company, 30-32 East Hennepin avenue, $20,000 loss to stock, $15,000 to building.

Twin City Brass & Aluminum Foundry company, 815 Washington avenue SE, $25,000.

Smith System Heating company, 819 Washington avenue SE, $35,000.

Minneapolis School Supply company, 821 Washington avenue SE, $25,000.

Fire Chief C. W. Ringer was in personal command, shifting apparatus called out by the 2-11 alarm at the Witte fire, to the Washington avenue SE, conflagration.

School Boards Adopting Fire-
Proof Construction Plans

Fire-proof construction for school houses is a policy being adopted in all parts of North Dakota by boards, according to Miss Minnie J. Nielson, state superintendent of public instruction. Plans submitted this spring to the state superintendent's office, as required by law for buildings involving considerable expenditure, call for virtually fire-proof buildings in every case.

Plans for new buildings filed include a 10-room grade school building in Bismarck, school house at Carpio, Ward county, and at Hunter, Cass county.

A modern brick school house will be dedicated at Sherwood June 1. A new building at Rolla was occupied this winter.

Miss Nielson returned yesterday from Park River, where she attended the dedicatory exercises at the new school house there, replacing one burned down last year. The building, she said, is of most modern type, and commendable from an architectural standpoint.

ENTRANCE BY U.S. IN EUROPE IS ADVOCATED

Means no Entanglements and no Acceptance of League
of Nations, He Says

NOT A PARTY MENACE

Answers Those in Party Who
Say Proposal Will Bring
Republican Disharmony

New York, April 24.—Participation by the United States in the World Court as proposed by the administration President Harding declared at the annual luncheon of members of the Associated Press "would be in harmony with party platform pledges, candidatorial promises and American aspirations," and would not be an entry into the league of nations "by the side-door, the back-door or the cellar-door."

Excessive friends of the league, the President declared, have clouded the situation by an unwarranted assumption that the proposal is a move toward membership in the league, while he added the irreconcilable opponents of the league have also clouded the question with the assumption that entanglements with Europe would unavoidably follow.

The fear of entanglement the President dismissed with the blunt declaration that if the Senate were to consent to any his administration would not complete ratification of such a proposal and would thereby prevent it from becoming effective.

Assume No Risks.

Reiterating his conviction that the United States would participate in the World Court without assuming the risks which its opponents pointed out, President Harding reviewed the Republican party platform since 1904, all of which he pointed out as pledges for a world course of arbitral justice and added: "I believe in keeping the faith. If political parties do not mean what they say and candidates do not mean what they say, then our form of government is based on fraud and cannot hope to endure."

"I have no unseemly comments to offer on the league. If it is serving the old world helpfully more power to it. But it is not for us. The Senate has no declared. The executive has so declared. The people have so declared. Nothing could be more decisively stamped with finality."

Not Paramount, He Says.

Mr. Harding made it plain that he did not consider the World Court question paramount to all other national problems and added that neither did he hold it a menace to party unity, evidently having in mind the warnings issued by some Republican leaders in the last few weeks.

Sensing one of the principal arguments to be used by opponents of the administration proposal, the claim that the United States would be placed at a disadvantage in the election of judges to the court through the disparity in the national voting power in the league assembly, the President said he frankly recognized that as a political bargain, "but as much as a nation could have more than one judge it was less of an objection than when applied to the league itself."

Although the question of the World Court forms the burden of the President's address and he spoke at great length upon it, he also bespoke a word for the establishment of a merchant marine, the plowed lack of party loyalty, and the organization of troops or blocs (Continued on Page 6)

FIRST SHARE OF STOCK IN NEW
BASEBALL ORGANIZATION BOUGHT BY
OUTSIDER; TEAMS GO INTO ACTION

Clint Draper, director of the Elks' Minstrel show, likes Bismarck so well he wants to boost things along here. He was the first man to subscribe today for stock in the new Bismarck Athletic Association, to put Bismarck on the baseball map this year.

Business men who have volunteered to aid in the campaign met with J. W. Taylor this morning and planned to immediately see men in their zones for stock subscriptions. The committee must have a definite line-up by Thursday, when representatives from Valley City, Jamestown, Minot and Bismarck meet here to complete the organization and draw up a schedule.

Team captains for the downtown district are Henry Duemeland, V. M. Dresbach, R. B. Loubek, Thomas Lee and John A. Larson.

Reports received by Mr. Taylor from many sources indicate a general desire upon the part of city boosters to have real baseball in the city this year. It is believed that the four-team league offers the best proposition that the city has had. The stock company form of organization was decided upon by business men who want affairs handled in an absolutely business-like manner. This is promised by those in charge of the organization.

It is emphasized that the proposition is up to the fans. There has been a cry for baseball, and if the fans want it they can have it by backing up the stock company.

holders Plan Court Fight on Sale

Fargo, April 24.—"Insurgent" Non-partisan League supporters of the new league weekly newspaper "The Progressive" to be published today for the first time by John Andrews, former editor of the Fargo Courier-News as editor, and P. L. Aarhus, also a former department head of the Fargo Courier-News, as manager, who claim that the right of the farmer stockholders of the Courier-News was sold out from under them without their consent to the present owner, the Fargo Tribune company, will seek legal redress of their claims against the old company, it was announced here today by Mr. Andrews.

At a meeting held here by stockholders representing farmer-members of the old corporation, a litigation committee composed of State Senator John Mithelun of Wimbledon, C. I. Peterson of Bisbee, W. L. Foster of Hillsboro, State Senator C. J. Olson of Valley City, and Mrs. Frank Elliott of Hillsboro, was appointed to sound out legal remedies.

The claim of the disgruntled stockholders is that the Courier-News was bought in the first instance with money which the farmers of the state contributed and that control was lost through complicated transactions within the company. They claim they still have controlling equity within the property notwithstanding the most recent sale to the Fargo Tribune company.

The Progressive will be under the complete control of John Andrews and will start with a circulation of between 10,000 and 12,000 copies, the editor said.

Three Spectacular Fires in Minneapolis Cause Big
Loss

Minneapolis, April 24.—Exploding acetylene gas tanks hurled debris two blocks late Saturday as a $100,000 fire gutted three manufacturing plants at Washington avenue SE, and Erie street, less than an hour after a 2-11 alarm fire wrecked a four store building at 30-32 East Hennepin avenue, with a loss of $35,000.

Both fires were spectacular. Streets and motor traffic was blocked, thousands of spectators crowded about on to the fire who acetylene tanks exploded, in one case, and when fire threatened 100 oil tanks, in the other.

The firms which suffered losses in the fires:

J. C. Witte Manufacturing company, 30-32 East Hennepin avenue, $20,000 loss to stock, $15,000 to building.

Twin City Brass & Aluminum Foundry company, 815 Washington avenue SE, $25,000.

Smith & Sproum Heating company, 819 Washington avenue SE, $50,000.

Minnesota School Supply company, 821 Washington avenue SE, $25,000.

Fire Chief C. W. Ringer was in personal command, shifting apparatus called out by the 2-11 alarm at the Witte fire, to the Washington avenue SE, conflagration.

School Boards Adopting Fire-
Proof Construction Plans

Fire-proof construction for school houses is a policy being adopted in all parts of North Dakota by boards, according to Miss Minnie J. Nielson, state superintendent of public instruction. Plans submitted this spring to the state superintendent's office, as required by law for buildings involving considerable expenditure, call for virtually fire-proof buildings in every case.

Plans for new buildings filed include a 10-room grade school building in Bismarck, school house at Carpio, Ward county, and at Hunter, Cass county.

A modern brick school house will be dedicated at Sherwood June 1. A new building at Rolla was occupied this winter.

Miss Nielson returned yesterday from Park River, where she attended the dedicatory exercises at the new school house there, replacing one burned down last year. The building, she said, is of most modern type, and commendable from an architectural standpoint.

High School Commencement
Program Takes Place
May 24

Dates for the graduation of students from the city schools, and the hospitals have been set.

About seventy students will graduate in the senior class of the high school, three in St. Mary's, eight nurses from the St. Alexis hospital, eleven from the Bismarck hospital, and between 80 or 90 from the eight grade of the public schools.

The principals of the various public schools stated that the exact number cannot be determined until nearer the close of school. The number, however, they state will not differ greatly from that of last year.

The first event of the high school graduation program will be the Junior-senior banquet which will be held at the McKenzie hotel May 3.

Other important events of the high school closing exercises will include:

Junior class play—Auditorium, May 11.

Baccalaureate sermon—Auditorium, May 20.

Class night—High school auditorium, May 22.

Commencement program—Auditorium, May 24.

Alumni banquet—May 25.

The speakers on the various programs have not yet been selected.

ENTRANCE BY
U.S. IN EUROPE
IS ADVOCATED

Means no Entanglements and
no Acceptance of League
of Nations, He Says

NOT A PARTY MENACE

Answers Those in Party Who
Say Proposal Will Bring
Republican Disharmony

New York, April 24.—Participation by the United States in the World Court as proposed by the administration President Harding declared at the annual luncheon of members of the Associated Press "would be in harmony with party platform pledges, candidatorial promises and American aspirations" and would not be an entry into the league of nations "by the side-door, the back-door or the cellar-door."

"Excessive friends of the league," the President declared, "have clouded the situation by an unwarranted assumption that the proposal is a move toward membership in the league," while he added the irreconcilable opponents of the league have also clouded the question with the assumption that entanglements with Europe would unavoidably follow.

The fear of entanglement the President dismissed with the blunt declaration that if the Senate were to consent to any administration would not complete ratification of such a proposal and would thereby prevent it from becoming effective.

Assume No Risks.
Reiterating his conviction that the United States would participate in the World Court without assuming the risks which its opponents pointed out, President Harding reviewed the Republican party platform since 1904, all of which he pointed out spoke for a world course of arbitral justice and added: "I believe in keeping the faith. If political parties do not mean what they say, and candidates do not mean what they say, then our form of government is based on fraud and cannot hope to endure."

"I have no unseemly comments to offer on the league. If it is serving the old world helpfully more power to it. But it is not for us. The Senate has so declared. The executive has so declared. The people have so declared. Nothing could be more decisively stamped with finality."

Not Paramount, He Says.
Mr. Harding made it plain that he did not consider the World Court question paramount to all other national problems and added that neither did he hold it a menace to party unity, evidently having in mind the warnings issued by some Republican leaders in the last few weeks.

Sensing one of the principal arguments to be used by opponents of the administration proposal, the claim that the United States would be placed at a disadvantage in the election of judges to the court through the disparity in the national voting power in the league assembly, the President said he frankly recognized this as a political bug-bear, "but inasmuch as no nation could have more than one judge it was less of an objection than when applied to the league itself."

Deplores Blocs
Although the question of the World Court forms the burden of the President's address, he spoke at great length upon it, he also bespoke a word for the establishment of a merchant marine, deplored lack of party loyalty and the organization of groups or blocs (Continued on Page 6)

FIRST SHARE OF STOCK IN NEW
BASEBALL ORGANIZATION BOUGHT BY
OUTSIDER; TEAMS GO INTO ACTION

Clint Draper, director of the Elks' Minstrel show, likes Bismarck so well he wants to boost things along here. He was the first man to subscribe today for stock in the new Bismarck Athletic Association, to put Bismarck on the baseball map this year.

Business men who have volunteered to aid in the campaign met with J. W. Taylor this morning and planned to immediately see men in their zones for stock subscriptions. The committee must have a definite line-up by Thursday, when representatives from Valley City, Jamestown, Minot and Bismarck meet here to complete the organization and draw up a schedule.

Team captains for the downtown district are Henry Duemeland, V. M. Dresbach, R. B. Loubek, Thomas Lee and John A. Larson.

Reports received by Mr. Taylor from many sources indicate a general desire upon the part of city boosters to have real baseball in the city this year. It is believed that the four-team league offers the best proposition that the city has had. The stock company form of organization was decided upon by business men who want affairs handled in an absolutely business-like manner. This is promised by those in charge of the organization.

It is emphasized that the proposition is up to the fans. There has been a cry for baseball, and if the fans want it they can have it by backing up the stock company.

WALL PAPER PAINTING DECORATING

It isn't often one finds a ready-designed house that is adapted to as many different conditions as is the eight-room home shown here. It is equally good-looking with either its broad or its narrow side to the street, and so is suited for a narrow, a wide, or a corner lot. The living room, lighted from three sides, extends across the house and has a porch with lattice at each end. Generous size, practical wall spaces and a homelike hearth make the room inviting.

Large Dining Room

At the right of the fireplace a door admits to the dining room, which is a very unusual one. It is 12x21-8, the end which opens upon the porch being surrounded by casements so that it is a solarium. Opposite this sunroom, the corners of the room are cut across one by a wall, the other by a corner china closet that is very quaint and very useful. French doors lead to the main stair hall, which is also directly accessible from the main porch and from every room on the first floor. This ease of communication between all the rooms is a strong point in favor of a house.

There is an excellent closet near the stair for wraps. When necessary, it may be used for clothes, in connection with the den which occupies a quiet, secluded corner.

The kitchen is only 10.2x10.4 but is well-equipped to take care of a great deal of work. Three casement windows are lined up along one side, above the sink. There is a built-in cupboard and ironing-board and plenty of room for work table and range.

Supplementing it are a light rear entry where the refrigerator has a convenient, clean place; and a pantry between kitchen and dining room, where sink, two drainboards and a built-in cupboard suggest a handy place for dishwashing.

Above the living room is the main bedroom. It is 12.9x12.8 and is made especially attractive for four pairs of casements on three sides. Between the clothes closet and the tray-case at one end of the room there is a seat under the window which is also an excellent receptacle for articles.

The other three bedrooms are also splendidly provided with closet space as well as drawer in the tiers of built-in trays. A permanent dressing table with adjustable mirrors in one room will captivate feminine hearts. Every bedroom has lots of light and air, and should be a place for refreshing sleep.

Roomy Linen Closet

The compact bathroom is just 5.6x5.8, and has a built-in tub. There is a good-sized linen closet in the hall.

A combination of stucco and clap-boards is effectively used on the exterior of this house. The overhanging of the second story, with its supporting brackets, is especially good. One porch is given the effect of a pergola by its roof treatment. Lattices and small-paned casements are harmonious in line and add much to the appearance of the house.

TWO GUILTY IN NATION-WIDE BOND SELLING

McCormick and Lindblom Are Given Seven Years Each in U. S. Court

WILL APPEAL CASE

Minneapolis, April 24.—Found guilty in connection with the alleged nation-wide plot to dispose of more than $2,000,000 in stolen securities, Stanley McCormick and Arthur W. Lindblom were sentenced to serve seven years in Leavenworth penitentiary and to pay fines of $12,000 each by Judge John F. McGee in federal district court here today.

The sentences are the maximum under the federal law in these cases. Both were released on bonds of $50,000 with instruction to obtain appeal of the case. They were granted a stay of 30 days for preparation of necessary motions.

RIFLE CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Bismarck Branch of National Association Formed

The Bismarck Rifle club was organized here last night.

It will be affiliated with the National Rifle association, be under regulations of the U. S. War Department, receive equipment from the government and seek to promote expert marksmanship.

Officers chosen were: President, E. E. Hitchcock; vice president, W. J. Gargart; secretary, Paul Cook; treasurer, H. E. Hanson; executive officer, W. C. Burch.

Capt. G. A. M. Anderson, U. S. A., instructor-inspector of the National Guard in North Dakota, assisted in the organization.

Equipment is expected within three weeks.

Makes Pleas for Increased Numbers in Night Classes

"The Value of Education" was presented to inmates of the penitentiary Wednesday evening by Mrs. Alfred Zuger before the beginning of a musical concert which was given by local musicians at the penitentiary.

"Although the night school class at the penitentiary already has an enrollment of about 65 students, here are a number of others who should join the classes," Mrs. Zuger stated.

"We have a day school in every community. Once it was a doubtful experiment, but now it is an established institution. We now want a night school in every community," said the speaker.

"The work which is being carried on in educational lines under the direction of J. I. Cahill has proved to be of great value to the men who have taken it, and left this institution. Men have gone from here and taken positions which they never would have been able to hold had they not either learned to read and write or taken up more advanced courses in mathematics, business, or other branches," declared the speaker.

To illustrate her points Mrs. Zuger mentioned the names of certain of the men who had gone out into the business world again and mentioned the positions which they had secured. She further emphasized her remarks by indicating one member of the class who had learned to write a correct social letter after only four lessons and another after four weeks.

Mrs. Zuger who together with Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart organized the night school at the penitentiary a little over a year ago said that she was proud of the progress which was being made in the night school.

She said that the men should appreciate the service which their fellow associates were doing them by teaching them, for almost all the classes are being conducted by inmates of the penitentiary who had previous educational opportunities.

"I want the men who are devoting certain of their evenings every week to instructing their less fortunate associates to know that I appreciate their efforts," said Mrs. Zuger. Miss Madge Runey, county superintendent, certainly deserves to be highly commended for giving two evenings a week to teaching classes in civil government and citizenship to these men, and Mr. Cahill has done much to improve the school since he has undertaken its direction.

LIQUOR RAIDS MADE IN CITY

Several Places Visited by Federal and State Officers

Raids made yesterday afternoon and last night by Wm. Welch, government officer, and Deputy Sheriff Phelps, resulted today in a number of charges of violation of the liquor law. A raid by Chief Martineson and Deputy Sheriff Phelps at midnight resulted in the detention of Tom Mann, colored, and his white wife on a charge of keeping a house of ill fame.

The liquor raids were made on search warrants issued by Justices of the Peace Casselman and Beer and approved by States Attorney Allen. They began about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Results were given by officers as follows: pool hall of Hanlon and Gabel, on Sixth street and Broadway visited, pint of liquor taken from Wm. Gabel; five empty alcohol cans found. The place was closed today on an injunction issued by Judge Jansonius on application of the states attorney.

Visited Nig Prince's house, between Front and Sweet streets, found pint of moonshine, empty glass containers; John Heckerich's place 319 Front street, found nothing except smell of recently running still; John Doctor, 311 Seventh street, pint moonshine; Nick Yokin, 807 Front street, found nothing; Hugo Ilchin, 410 14th street, still in operation, dandelion wine found.

Warrants were issued for Ilchin, Yokin, Prince and Doctor.

My Perennial Beauty

And my debt to France

By Edna Wallace Hopper

All who see me on the stage and elsewhere know that I look 19. My youthful bloom is the envy of countless debutantes. Yet for 32 years, I have been a musical comedy star, and am now of a grandmother's age.

I owe this to France. Her experts perfected the beauty helps I use. And I served with France during all the great war to help repay the debt.

Now I go further. I am offering these formulas to all womankind. I am sharing with all the helps I found, and what they brought to me.

White Super-clay

My chief help is a facial clay. Not the crude and muddy clays so many use today, but a white, refined clay, clean and dainty, wondrously effective. It is the final results of 20 years of scientific study.

French beauty experts, many years ago, taught me what clays can do. Then few women used them, and those women became the marvels of their time for beautiful complexions.

But science has gone far since then. It has found that rare clay, mineral-laden, which brings maximum results. It has learned how to refine it—to remove the useless mud. It has added factors which give to clay a multiplied effect.

No ordinary clay gives one any conception of what this new-type clay can do.

Now I am having this super-clay prepared by able experts so all who wish may get it anywhere. And I call it my White Youth Clay.

Clay Is Essential

Clay is essential to beauty at its best. Also to continued youth. Even women who use crude clays stand out in any crowd. No girl or woman in these days can afford to omit clay.

Clay draws out what clogs the skin—the causes of sallowness, blackheads and blemishes. It brings the blood to the skin to nourish and renew it. The result is a rosy complexion. It firms the skin, and combats the cause of wrinkles.

Not all these results come at once, but most of them are prompt. Many women, in 30 minutes, seem to drop ten years. And my own smooth, soft, rosy skin shows what constant use will do.

If you have used other clays, my White Youth Clay will be a revelation. The new freshness it brings will amaze you. Its daintiness will delight you. You will see why its use has kept me ever beautiful and young.

Edna Wallace Hopper's White Youth Clay is now supplied by all druggists, all toilet counters. Price, 50c and $1 per tube. Also my Youth Cream, which should follow the clay.

5000 homes had to go without ARCOLA because they waited till Fall

TO 5,000 families in 1921 came a real disappointment. There weren't enough ARCOLAS to fill their orders—and they shivered through the winter with stoves or an old-fashioned heating plant.

Three times as many homes are being built this year as in 1921. And we can make only the same number of ARCOLAS as in 1921 because orders for larger Ideal Boilers have already over-taxed our factories.

The popularity of ARCOLA is tremendous. It is the only satisfactory heating plant for the small home. Gives you a genuine American Radiator in every room. Perfect protection for the children against colds and grippe. So economical that it pays for itself in the fuel it saves.

Now is the time to fight constipation with Bran—Start to-day!

Don't give the diseases that follow in the track of constipation a chance to lodge in your system! Get after constipation with nature's greatest helper—BRAN. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and kibbled—because it is ALL BRAN and because it will give you permanent relief from constipation. It is scientifically prepared to relieve suffering humanity from constipation and it will do that.

Bran's action is wonderful. It sweeps and cleanses and purifies. It knocks out the dangerous toxic poisons and frees the system from pollution! Try Kellogg's Bran for a week. Eat it regularly—two tablespoons each day; or much each meal in chronic cases. You will be astounded at the difference in your feelings!

Kellogg's Bran should not be confused with common bran which is unpalatable and difficult to eat. Kellogg's is cooked and all ready to serve and is really delicious. Eat it as a cereal, sprinkled over your favorite hot or cold cereal or cook or mix it with hot cereal. In the latter cases add two tablespoons for each person.

Do you realize what Kellogg's Bran can do for you and for your family; do you realize that it will keep sickness away; that it will put every one on a new health footing; that it will free you all from pills and cathartics?

Kellogg's Bran is particularly delightful made in raisin bread, in macaroons, popovers, muffins, etc. Recipes are printed on each package! You will say that Kellogg's Bran is a blessing to humanity.

TO BEAUTIFY CITY

Atty. Young, Dr. Gilmore, Mrs. Quinn, Mr. Jackson, Mr. Bell, Speak

"A city should have parks on all sides, and boulevards should be planted with trees," said Atty. C. L. Young in presenting to the fifth and sixth grade pupils at Will school the subject of a "well planted city."

"The home grounds should be planted with trees so that the shade would not interfere with the flower gardens in the front or the vegetable gardens in the rear. The trees best adapted to the city of Bismarck are elm and ash," said Mr. Young.

"All home grounds should have shrubbery at the sides of the lot or against the house; the kind of shrubbery to be planted depending upon its position. In planting shrubbery it should be in clumps so far as possible, and varieties selected that will live through the winters, all with the view to having different kinds of shrubs flower at different times. The home grounds should have flower beds. There should be perennials wherever possible. The flowers to be grown should be low or tall in accordance with their location. Where perennials are not possible there should be annuals, depending more or less upon the location in which they are to be grown and on the taste of those growing them.

"Flowers too should be grown in beds against the house or along side of the lot so as to leave space for the lawn."

Beauty of Nature

"Rhythm, balance, and symmetry are just as essential in pleasing the eye in a landscape as they are in pleasing the ear in music," said Dr. Melvin R. Gilmore in speaking on the "Conservation of the Beauty of Nature" Friday morning at the high school.

"It is just as painful a discord to see the wrong combination of objects as to hear the wrong combination of sounds," asserted the speaker.

Both the sense of beauty of objects and the sense of beauty of sounds are susceptible to cultivation. As examples of the beauty in nature the speaker pointed out the following:

1. Landscapes in completeness, elements of landscapes in particular, as streams, lakes, hills, valleys, forests, groves, copses, individual trees, wild flower masses, and individual wild flowers.
2. Descriptions of beauty of nature of this country as left on record by some of the early travelers.

Heirs of Nature

"We are heirs and stewards of the beauties of nature which we enjoy," said Mr. Gilmore. "Our responsibility to those who are to come after us cannot be overlooked. The way in which to conserve these beauties is to refrain from needless destruction, to deposit junk and waste materials at places for that purpose, to let wild flowers produce their seed instead of plucking them while in bloom.

"To show care in the gathering of fruit so that vines or branches are not broken.

Uses of Trees, Shrubs

"The uses of native trees, shrubs, and flowering plants in beautifying our homes and our city," were explained to the pupils of Reiholt school Friday afternoon by Dr. Melvin R. Gilmore.

Reasons for the use of native plants as given by the speaker were:

1. To keep distinctive local character.
2. Keep harmony of surroundings.
3. Assure success.
4. Preserve native species which are becoming crowded out.
5. Value for scientific study.

It is by the native plants that we can learn the natural behavior of plant life in conditions to which it is best suited. Plants introduced into new conditions, strange to their species, do not behave in a normal way. Native species are needed as indicators of probably success in growing crops of related species in cultivation.

At the dusk of the evening was falling,
Through the purple stain window,
There streamed
A beam of the ray of the sun in its setting.
And played in the golden pews, so it seemed;
And I caught the glimpse of a figure,
I was sure there was gray in the hair;
The broad shoulders moved with a vigor,
And I heard the deep whispers of prayer.
O the faith and the fervor impressed me,
Surely from the depths of that heart,
There went up like incense ascending,
Accepted prayers, at each whispered impart.
Old Tom it was, for at this evening hour,
For many a swift speeding year,
He came to pray—as within his power,
For himself and for those he held dear.
And now he is gone. His labor is done,

Obituary of Nancy Swyers

By Rev. C. F. Strutz

Mrs. Nancy M. Swyers, nee-Smith, was born near Winchester, O., March 28, 1848. She spent her early youth near the place of her birth and was married to George Swyers, Sept. 13, 1869, with whom she moved to Talma, Ind. Death claimed her husband after ten years of happy married life. Later she married J. W. Baer. This union was blessed with four sons and one daughter, all of whom survive her.

Last November she came to Bismarck with her son, William Baer, with whom she made her home until death claimed her. The deceased was raised in an old-fashioned Methodist home and believed in the "Old time religion," when she came to Talma, Ind., she did not find her own church represented and so united with the Christian church. She was interested in the things of God and loved her bible dearly.

On Friday, April 13, she was suddenly taken sick with cerebral pressure and heart trouble and passed away peacefully Tuesday, April 17, at 4 o'clock in the morning.

She leaves to mourn her death, one daughter, Mrs. Lula Williams, and four sons, William, Jasper, and Iver Baer, all of whom reside in this city, and Vernoa Baer of Tippecanoe, Ind.

The funeral was held from the Evangelical church Friday afternoon.

AT THE MOVIES

THREE STARS IN THIS FILM

A combination of proven elements in photoplay making comes to the Capitol Theatre tomorrow when Universal presents "The Long Chance," filmed from Peter B. Kyne's story as an all-star production:

— Universal apparently took no chances in the making of this unusual feature. Nothing was left to ordinary hands.

The cast itself is composed of favorites of long standing—Henry B. Walthall, famous character artist, Ralph Graves, Griffith "And", Marjorie Daw, one of the screen's most popular beauties, and Grace Marvin, William Bertram, Leonard Clapham, Jack Curtis, Geo. A. Williams, Boyd Irwin, Margaret Collington and Mai Wells, all successful players.

Jack Conway directed it, with the ability which has kept him in the front rank of directors for several years. One of his current successes is "Don't Shoot," starring Herbert Rawlinson.

Peter B. Kyne's stories usually are above the average in dramatic merit, and no less an expert than the supervisor of the Universal City scenario department, Raymond Schrock, was assigned to prepare the western epic for screening.

THE ELLINGE

"The Beautiful and Damned" from Scott Fitzgerald's novel which has been enjoying unusual popularity because of its treatment of flappers and the fast set, is the feature at the Ellinge theatre for Wednesday and Thursday.

It concerns Gloria Gilbert, a lovely flapper, and Anthony Patch, a young member of the idle class, who is waiting for the death of his grandfather, old Adam Patch, a millionaire and social reformer. He falls in love with and marries Gloria, and the two adopt as their motto, "Wait 'till Grampa Patch dies." Gloria is married but still a flapper. They begin a course of life which leads to dissipation and costly pleasures. Grandfather Patch, happy at the marriage and confident that it means a new and pure life for Anthony, gets the surprise of his life when he pays him an unexpected visit and finds the home of the newlyweds the scene of reckless revelry and debauchery. He is so overcome with grief and rage that he dies a week later.

Gloria and Anthony attended the reading of the will, wondering how many millions they have inherited. Their confidence changes to consternation upon learning that they are left penniless. Before long they are reduced to dire poverty, with the wolf at the door.

How Anthony falls into bad company and loses his friends, and the struggles of Gloria to make a living and regain decency, follow in situations abounding with the elements of surprise and strong drama.

Marie Prevost and Kenneth Harlan have the leading parts while Clarence Burton, Cleo Ridgely, Walter Long, Louise Fazenda, Tully Marshall, Harry Meyers and others are also among the prominent players in the cast.

Buster Keaton appears on the program in his comedy, "The Balloonatic" in which he goes up in the air over a girl but she lets him down.

Buffalo berries are good shrubs from which to grow hedges while wild plum, choke cherry, red haw, nanny-berry, penhina, silver berry, and pine berry are excellent for clumps explained the speaker.

Prairie wild rose, wood wild rose, wild gooseberry, and wild currant are excellent for use as clumps and borders of smaller shrubs while clematis, Virginia creeper, and wild grape vines can be used in Bismarck for beautifying walks or driveways.

A group of herbaceous flowering plants named by the speaker as suited to this climate were wild columbine, violets, wild perennial blue flax, pentstemon, gaillardia, lupines, ground beans, prairie clover, spiderwort, evening primrose, goldenrod, yucca, asters, and maximilian's sunflowers.

In determining the species to be planted the situation, the kind of soil, the natural moisture supply, the exposure to sun and wind and relation to surroundings in general must all be considered, the speaker explained. The natural growths in conditions similar to the given place will aid much in determining varieties.

WILL APPEAL CASE

Minneapolis, April 24. — Found guilty in connection with the alleged nationwide plot to dispose of more than $2,000,000 in stolen securities, Harry McCormick and Arthur W. Lindblom were sentenced to serve seven years in Leavenworth penitentiary and to pay fines of $12,000 each by Judge John F. McGee in federal district court here today.

The sentences are the maximum under the federal law in these cases. Both were released on bonds of $25,000 each pending action on appeal of the case. They were granted a stay of 30 days for preparation of necessary motions.

RIFLE CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Bismarck Branch of National Association Formed

The Bismarck Rifle club was organized last night. It will be affiliated with the National Rifle association, by the regulations of the U. S. War Department, receive equipment from the government and seek to promote expert marksmanship.

Officers chosen were: President, E. E. Hitchcock; vice president, W. J. Fargart; secretary, Paul Cook; treasurer, H. E. Hanson; executive officer, W. C. Buch.

Capt. G. A. M. Anderson, U. S. A., instructor-inspector of the National Guard in North Dakota, assisted in the organization.

Equipment is expected within three weeks.

Makes Pleas for Increased Numbers in Night Classes

"The Value of Education" was presented to inmates of the penitentiary Wednesday evening by Mrs. Alfred Zuger before the beginning of a musical concert which was given by local musicians at the penitentiary.

"Although the night school class at the penitentiary already has an enrollment of about 65 students, there are a number of others who would join the classes," Mrs. Zuger stated.

"We have a day school in every community. Once it was a doubtful experiment, but now it is an established institution. We now want a night school in every community," said the speaker.

"The work which is being carried on in educational lines under the direction of J. I. Cahill has proved to be of great value to the men who have taken it, and left this institution. Men have gone from here and taken positions which they never would have been able to hold had they not either learned to read and write or taken up more advanced courses in mathematics, business, or other branches," declared the speaker.

To illustrate her points Mrs. Zuger mentioned the names of certain of the men who had gone out into the business world again and mentioned the positions which they had secured. She further emphasized her remarks by indicating one member of the class who had learned to write a correct social letter after only four lessons and another after four weeks.

Mrs. Zuger who together with Mrs. Paul Wilson Stewart organized the night school at the penitentiary a little over a year ago said that she was proud of the progress which was being made in the night school.

She said that the men should appreciate the service which their fellow associates were doing them by teaching them, for almost all the classes are being conducted by inmates of the penitentiary who had previous educational opportunities.

"I want the men who are devoting certain of their evenings every week to instructing their less fortunate associates to know that I appreciate their efforts," said Mrs. Zuger. Miss Madge Huney, county superintendent, certainly deserves to be highly commended for giving two evenings a week to teaching classes in civil government and citizenship to these men, and Mr. Cahill has done much to improve the school since he has undertaken its direction.

LIQUOR RAIDS MADE IN CITY

Several Places Visited by Federal and State Officers

Raids made yesterday afternoon and last night by Wm. Welch, government officer, and Deputy Sheriff Phelps, resulted today in a number of charges of violation of the liquor law. A raid by Chief Marthenson and Deputy Sheriff Phelps at midnight resulted in the detention of Tom Mann, colored, and his white wife on a charge of keeping a house of ill fame.

The liquor raids were made on search warrants issued by Justices of the Peace Casselman and Beer and approved by States Attorney Allen. They began about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Results were given by officers as follows: pool hall of Hanlon and Gabel, on Sixth street and Broadway visited, pint of liquor taken from Wm. Gabel; few empty alcohol cans found. The place was closed today on an injunction issued by Judge Janssonius on application of the states attorney.

Visited Nig Prince's house, between Front and Sweet streets, found pint of moonshine, empty glass containers; John Heckerich's place 415 Front street, found nothing except smell of recently running still; John Doctor, 311 Seventh street, pint moonshine; Nick Yokin, 807 Front street, found nothing; Hugo Ilchlin, 410 14th street, still in operation, dandelion wine found.

Warrants were issued for Ilchlin, Yokin, Prince and Doctor.

My Perennial Beauty And my debt to France

By Edna Wallace Hopper

All who see me on the stage and elsewhere know that I look 19. My youthful bloom is the envy of countless debutantes. Yet for 32 years, I have been a musical comedy star, and am now of a grandmother's age.

I owe this to France. Her experts perfected the beauty helps I use. And I served with France during all the great war to help repay the debt.

Now I go further. I am offering these formulas to all womankind. I am sharing with all the helps I found, and what they brought to me.

My chief help is a facial clay. Not the crude and muddy clays so many use today, but a white, refined clay, clean and dainty, wondrously effective. It is the final results of 20 years of scientific study.

French beauty experts, many years ago, taught me what clays can do. Then few women used them, and those women became the marvels of their time for beautiful complexions.

But science has gone far since then. It has found that rare clay, mineral-laden, which brings maximum results. It has learned how to refine it—to remove the useless mud. It has added factors which give to clay a multiplied effect.

No ordinary clay gives one any conception of what this new-type clay can do.

Now I am having this super-clay prepared by able experts so all who wish may get it anywhere. And I call it my White Youth Clay.

Clay is essential to beauty at its best. Also to continued youth. Even women who use crude clays stand out in any crowd. No girl or woman in these days can afford to omit clay.

Clay draws out what clogs the skin—the causes of sallowness, blackheads and blemishes. It brings the blood to the skin to nourish and renew it. The result is a rosy complexion. It firms the skin, and combats the cause of wrinkles.

Not all these results come at once, but most of them are prompt. Many women, in 30 minutes, seem to drop ten years. And my own smooth, soft, ray skin shows what constant use will do.

If you have used other clays, my White Youth Clay will be a revelation. The new freshness it brings will amaze you. Its daintiness will delight you. You will see why its use has kept me ever beautiful and young.

Edna Wallace Hopper's White Youth Clay is now supplied by all druggists, all toilet counters. Price, 50c and $1 per tube. Also my Youth Cream, which should follow the clay.

5000 homes had to go without ARCOLA because they waited till Fall

To 5,000 families in 1921 came a real disappointment. There weren't enough ARCOLAS to fill their orders—and they shivered through the winter with stoves or an old-fashioned heating plant.

Three times as many homes are being built this year as in 1921. And we can make only the same number of ARCOLAS as in 1921 because orders for larger Ideal Boilers have already over-taxed our factories.

The popularity of ARCOLA is tremendous. It is the only satisfactory heating plant for the small home. Gives you a genuine American Radiator in every room. Perfect protection for the children against colds and grippe. So economical that it pays for itself in the fuel it saves.

Please help us to avoid disappointing you next Fall. Ask your Heating Contractor to give you an estimate now.

SPURNED LOVE

Did you ever love any one and go through the anguish of not having your love returned? In all nature there is no suffering more bitter and diabolical than love spurned or love tolerated in a kindly spirit without being reciprocated.

Rejected love has agonized both sexes in all generations of the past. And it will continue agonizing as long as humanity peoples the earth.

About the finest thing that has ever come to our attention, along this line, is the experience of Rodger Dolan.

Forty years ago, Rodger fell deeply in love with a girl of 18. She treated him kindly—promised to be a sister to him—but as for returning his love, that was impossible. She simply did not love him. And nothing could make her, for love is emotional, not guidable by the reason.

Rodger went through the torments. He paled, grew thin, moped, even hinted darkly at suicide. This latter worried his friends, since it is no uncommon event for spurned love to attempt to extinguish itself in the supposed forgetfulness of death.

Then the girl began falling in love with another. This heaped coals of fire on Rodger's head. He disappeared.

Forty years have slipped by. The other day, Rodger returned to the old home town. He tells what happened:

"I hunted up my old flame and called on her. And I got the shock of my life. This former sweetheart had mellowed with age. She had retained much of her girlish charm. But somehow she no longer appealed to me. It was like the bursting of a beautiful bubble.

"I thought it over, back in my hotel room. And, do you know, I was actually glad that we hadn't married. She had changed. And so had I. When I loved her in youth, she seemed to me the finest in creation. But all this had changed as the years rolled on. I adored her as a rose bud, but when it came to the blossoms of maturity there were others that appealed to me more.

"I couldn't help but think, what a misfortune it would have been for both of us if I had won her for my bride. Inevitably, we would have drifted apart as we matured in opposite directions. This was true of me. I believe it is true of both sexes.

"What I really loved back yonder was, not this girl, but an intangible ideal that she seemed to fit. Time has showed me that I was mistaken, deluded. As she matured and aged, she fitted my ideal like a badly tailored suit of clothes fits my body.

"It cost me a lot of suffering. But I went on my lone way until finally I found another, my wife, who genuinely measured up to my ideal. The girl of my youth remains a sweet memory, but it was unquestionably a case of mistaken identity.

"What fools people are, to commit suicide or brood over love that is not reciprocated, when there are so many millions of other people in the world, and among them some one that will be more appealing. When the real one is met, love will be mutual."

HER MILLIONS

The $38,000,000 heiress to the John W. Gates fortune starts housekeeping in a $50-a-month flat. She and her cartoonist-husband, Lester Norris, move into this small apartment on Main Street of the bride's home town, St. Charles, Ill.

Veteran married people, recalling their own honeymoons, will say, "It won't make much difference where they are, whether in a palace or a hovel—until the honeymoon is over, at least."

Usually it makes a lot of difference after the honeymoon. But there are some mighty happy American families in $50 flats. And some mighty unhappy ones in palaces. Home is where the heart is.

We like this girl's spirit—beginning her real career in a humble flat despite her being heiress to $38,000,000.

There's something wholeheartedly American about it. Not that the average American, heir to such a tremendous fortune, would be content with a $50 apartment. (Would you?) But it's a curious and democratic spectacle that would happen in few, if any, other countries.

Democracy is instilled pretty deeply into Americans. It seems to be in the very air. You catch this occasionally in the news—such things as millionaires going to the circus or movies, enjoying a sack of peanuts, or Henry Ford and wife calling each other "pa" and "ma."

The real snobs are in the third-way class between people of moderate means and folks of big wealth.

And, speaking of snobs, we're developing a peculiar type in our country—an aristocracy of sniffing intellectuals, so-called. Worship of things that hearsay brands as "high-brow," in other words.

You wonder how much this heiress' decision was swayed by her less wealthy cartoonist-husband, in the matter of the $50 flat. It's a safe bet that he'll pay the rent and so on, out of his own income.

That's American, too. You don't catch impoverished European "noblemen" showing any craving for $50 flats when they marry American heiresses. Generally they want a transfer of part of the estate before sharing their title.

The best part of this $50 flat story will come later, when time reveals how long before the $50 flat gives the rich bride ennui. She's a plucky American, though, to "take a crack at it."

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

OBEYING ORDERS

Hiking through a small French town an ignorant chicken, unversed in the appetites of American darkies, crossed the road in front of a colored detachment. With much zeal a soldier broke forth from the ranks and set out in pursuit.

"Halt!" bellowed the officer in charge. Both fowl and negro only accelerated their paces.

"Halt! Halt!" repeated the officer. The dusky doughboy made one plunge, grasping the chicken by the neck, and stuffed it, still struggling, inside his shirt.

"There!" he panted. "Ah! learn you to halt when the captain says halt!"—Echo Weekly.

SPECKS, THAT'S ALL

Sit back and grin at yourself, at the world and its worries. Get a real perspective on the importance of the individual or the group or the nation in terms of a noise.

The other day astronomers announced a terrific collision of worlds in the constellation of Cetus. Beta Ceti is afire.

But the sound of the crash couldn't possibly reach the earth for 60,000 years!

Where will all these man-specks be by that time?

If you hear an awful noise someday that seems to come from space, where don't let it frighten you. It may be the sound of a star collision that happened forty of fifty millions of years ago.

And we think the coal situation is important. —A. J. Evening News.

THAT "INDIAN UPRISING"

Whenever an Indian gets "bad" and commits a crime and a few of his tribesmen attempt to aid him or conceal him, the episode grows to the dignity of an "uprising of the redskins." Nine thousand boys at once begin to prepare for an excursion to the West.

If anyone has ever in his travels seen a Plute Indian he has seen the last answer in degenerate native Americans. One or more hard-boiled Indians committing crimes of the same character as those done in popular communities where they are of such high frequency that they are given small attention, have stirred the front pages into action in the past week. That these "outbreaks" took place in the most isolated and least visited of the wilderness of the West added to the opportunity for dime novel thrills and thrills.

While the men performed the feat of escaping from jail and been given aid and assistance by a dozen renegade sheep stealing rustlers, we would have heard nothing of it east of Denver. The Plute is famous for a cake made from a meal of ground grasshoppers and for his aversion to water for bathing purposes. He is like many a white man, potential for trouble, when filled with the high voltage moonshine of illicit commerce. But as for an "uprising" there is far more danger in the one effete East than in the sublime scenery of Southern Utah.—Jonesville Gazette.

FORD'S MILLIONS—AND BRAINS

Is it an outrage that Henry Ford has several million dollars, while many are poor? I sincerely wish to be an honest, fair man. Should I protest because of Mr. Ford's fortune? Henry Ford began his life as poor as any of those who now complain because of poverty, and was something done about it. He has enjoyed no opportunities we all do not enjoy today, except that he had a better head than the rest of us. No special laws in the interest of Henry Ford were ever enacted; on the contrary, laws were adopted to hamper his operations, and others of equal ability.

So what we are trying to divide is not money, but brains.

Is there a way to divide up the brains of the country? So far as I can see, the only possible plan will be to cut off Henry Ford's head, and the heads of all brainy men, and keep up the process until only the fools are left.

I have lived a long time, and thought as fairly and deeply as is possible for me to think. And I have concluded that the tremendous energy of men like Henry Ford is a good thing for the country, and all its inhabitants. Mr. Ford has made hundreds of men rich through his energy. Thousands of others have received high wages, and been given opportunity to become rich. I can come to no other conclusion than that the plan of giving every citizen the proceeds of his energy, work and savings is the best possible plan for everybody. Were it not, surely another would have been thought out in centuries of experimenting and thinking.

That is the reason I am opposed to Socialism; I do not oppose Socialism because I am vicious, and lack sympathy for the poor.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

A THOUGHT

Many waters cannot quench love, neither can the floods drown it; if a man would give all the substance of his house for love, it would utterly be consumed.—Sol. 8:7.

"BERTIE AND BETTY" IT WILL BE AFTER TWO "NOES" AND ONE "YES"

By Milton Bronner
NEA Service Staff Writer

London, April 24. All Britain, which was so pleased when Princess Mary became the wife of Lord Lascelles, is tickled to death over the marriage set for Thursday of Betty and Bertie.

"Bertie" is the Duke of York, the second son of the King of England. "Betty" is Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, youngest daughter of the Earl of Strathmore.

The nicknames are what they call each other.

The loyal Britisher is pleased not only because once more one of the king's children is choosing a Bilton as a life partner, but also because the 28-year-old duke had to top the question on three times before he landed his girl.

They had met years ago at a kid party when Lady Elizabeth was 6 and Prince Albert 12.

They met frequently after that because the girl was one of those chosen by Queen Mary as a companion and schoolmate of Princess Mary. Naturally, she was one of Mary's bridesmaids.

At the wedding the Duke of York paid marked attention to her. At an informal dance preceding the wedding festivities the duke ventured his first proposal. "No!"

He Tries Again

Not despairing, the duke tried his luck a second time last summer at a country house in northern England, where both were guests. Lady Elizabeth and the duke were playing in a foursome at golf.

"How about a wosome for life?" the duke asked. Again, "No!"

But last winter, while a guest at the girl's home in Hertfordshire, he and she strolled through the woods on their way to church on a Sunday morning. He proposed for the third time and got "Yes."

That's why the couple didn't reach church in time for the services.

Princess Mary married a very rich man. But the Duke of York is not marrying a very rich girl.

Her father, the Earl of Strathmore, is the head of a very old house. He owns about 25,000 acres of land in Scotland and England. However, a greater portion of this will probably go to his eldest son and heir.

As the earl has three other sons and daughters, the dowry she gives the duke's bride will probably not be in the same class with the millions of Lascelles.

The bridegroom has been drawing an allowance from the British people of about $50,000 a year. Upon his marriage, he will draw $125,000 a year.

The social duties of a son of the king will make big holes in that income.

After the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York is the next heir to the throne.

LETTER FROM JOHN PRESCOTT, NEWLYWED, TO HIS FRIEND, SYDNEY CARTON

DEAR SYD:

I broke off suddenly in my letter to you the other day, for Leslie has the most absurd ideas about one's private correspondence. She wants to read all mine and tenders hers to me to read.

God knows, Syd, I do not want to read her letters full of trivial commonplace and questions about people for whom I care nothing, and certainly I would not have her read my letters to you for the world. It would seem like giving up my entire liberty.

I wanted to tell you about my interview with Leslie's father. It was a "humdinger."

He had me on the carpet that morning after I returned from that business (?) trip for about an hour and he had me going all right. I wasn't sure there was going to be a wedding when I made a clean breast of the affair with Paulette.

At that, Leslie's father is a good sport. In the first place he told me that he suspected from the first that my firm had not sent for me and in the second place he said he thought that I had balled up matters greatly. That anyone of sense would have known I was lying and that you were aiding me. He said that only a loving woman who wanted to believe would have been fooled by either you or me.

He said that was why he was ready to forgive me, as it showed him I was not very proficient in the matter of deceiving.

Syd, I told him the whole story, and he said, as you have, that I had made a consummate ass of myself. He said it more forcibly too. However, he continued that probably ninety-nine men out of a hundred do the same thing every day of their lives.

I asked him if he thought I had better tell Leslie and he answered no. He didn't think she would understand.

I gathered from what he said, although he made no assertions to that effect, that he thought what a woman didn't know wouldn't hurt her. I pigeon-holed that opinion for future use.

He assured me, however, that he would expect me to be absolutely devoted and true to his daughter after marriage, and he affirmed somewhat profanely that he didn't care a d— for me or my feelings in the matter, but he would not have his daughter unhappy.

"Prescott," he said, "I have never made Leslie's mother suffer one pang of unhappiness on my account and I do not intend that she shall sorrow because some scoundrel like yourself has brought grief to one of her daughters."

I felt pretty low down, Syd. The old man is white and, if for no other reason than because I want his respect, I am going to play the game straight from now on.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

The Toy Maker shipped two brand-new airplanes to Bing-Bang Land by express.

The Tinker Man opened them and put the parts all together like the smart tinker man he was.

Then he called Nick. "Which one do you wish to fly in?" he asked.

"The one belonging to the wooden soldiers or the one belonging to the tin soldiers? Which side are you on?"

"I'd better stick to the wooden soldiers," answered Nick. "I cannot be a traitor, sir!"

"Good!" cried the Tinker Man. "But you are too big to run this toy airplane the way you are."

"That is easily fixed," said Nick. "Don't forget that Nancy and I have Magic Shoes."

So he proceeded to wish himself quite small and soon he was in the end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Peters, parents of Mrs. Lee.

Bye and bye he flew away over Bing-Bang Land and all the Bing-Bang Landers cried out, "Oh, look at the queer new bird in the sky!"

Nick flew right over the enemy's country where he could see down into the camps and find out what everybody was doing.

But something dreadful happened. A tin soldier lifted his gun and shot at Nick's airplane and hit it, breaking one of the wings.

Down crashed Nick and it's a wonder he wasn't killed.

But he wasn't—not even hurt, and he jumped up to find himself surrounded by tin soldiers.

"Take the prisoner off to jail," said General Hobbledoyle, the leader of the tin army, "and search him. Six tin soldiers hustled Nick away and put him in jail at once."

The first thing they did was to take away his Magic Shoes.

When he did not return Nancy began to worry.

To Use $100 Fund For Dental Work

The $100 which went to the Women's Community Council as their share in the sale of Christmas Seals will be used to pay for the materials to be used in repairing the teeth of children in the public schools who are unable to have otherwise dental attention.

The dentists of the city are donating their services in doing this work which began this week and will be continued until the teeth of the children are in good repair.

It was decided that the $100 would go further in this line of work than in any other. The dentists who are caring for the children's teeth again this year report that they find them in better condition than they were last year when dental work was first taken up in connection with the school children.

Take Nuptial Vows at St. Mary's Chapel

The marriage of Miss Rene Madebury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lundeman of St. Paul, Minn., formerly of Bismarck, and Maurice E. Fitzgerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fitzgerald of Garrison took place this morning at 7 o'clock at St. Mary's chapel with Rev. Fr. Slag officiating.

The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. John Francy, and accompanied by near relatives. The bride wore a gown of brown tulle with a corsage of sweetheart roses and sweet peas. Mrs. Fitzgerald received her education at St. Boniface college, Winnipeg, Canada. She was employed for some time past at the Bank of North Dakota, but resigned her position several months ago.

Mr. Fitzgerald, who spent most of his life in Garrison, attend the public school and graduated from the Garrison high school. Almost before he had completed his high school training he enlisted for service in the World War, leaving for training in July, 1918. He served with Company D of the Fifth Engineers Reserve training corps and was stationed at Camp Humphries, near Alexandria, Va. He was scheduled to cross to France for replacement with the 118th Engineers, but was a victim of poisoning together with others, two days before the day set for departure.

Since his discharge from service he has been studying voice in New York city and later in MacPhail school of music and dramatic arts. Mr. Fitzgerald is a student in the latter place at present.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at Homan's cafe, places being laid for nine guests. The bride couple will go to Garrison tomorrow for a short visit with the bridegroom's parents and then leave for Minneapolis, Minn., where they will make their home. While Mr. Fitzgerald completes his musical training.

Eight Bridesmaids at Royal Wedding To Ignore Tradition

London, April 24.—The younger generation's tack from the straight and narrow lane of orthodoxy, and convention will be followed a bit in the wedding dresses of the bridesmaids to Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon when she becomes the Duchess of York. And tradition will be tossed away somewhat by the bride herself in her wedding gown, for the sleeves will be of manufactured Nottingham lace. No one who worries over such things can remember when a royal bride ever wore lace other than handmade, upon her wedding day.

The unorthodox touch in the apparel of the eight bridesmaids will be a trail of lily leaf green tulle upon their cream chiffon dresses. Heretofore aristocracy has seemed to imagine that green was all very well in its place, but that a wedding was no place for it. However, green is one of Lady Elizabeth's pet colors and she ordained that her bridesmaids should wear it. Her favorite color, like that of Mrs. Harding, is blue.

The wedding dress of Lady Elizabeth, as described by the officially appointed personage whose business it is to depict such articles, is "a beautiful chiffon negligee dress of old ivory color and of a simple mediæval style, embroidered with silver thread and pearls with lace sleeves reaching to the ground, of specially made Nottingham lace. The train is composed of beautiful old lace mounted on tulle, the lace graciously lent by Her Majesty, the Queen. The bride will wear a tulle veil with a wreath of orange blossoms."

The bridesmaids will be gowned in cream chiffon dresses, embroidered with silver leaves with a trail of lily leaf green tulle caught at the waist with a white rose and silver thistle. They will wear head dresses of silver leaves with silver roses. The thistles are in honor of Scotland, homeland of the bride.

The going away outfit is a very simple but lovely dress of dove grey.

OBEDIENT ORDERS
Hiking through a small French town in ignorant chicken, and in the middle of a French town, a colored detachment, with much of a soldier broke forth from the ranks and set out in pursuit.
"Halt!" followed the officer in charge. Both low and negro only accelerated their pace.
"Halt!" repeated the officer. The dusky doughboy made one plunge, grasping the chicken by the neck and stuffed it still struggling inside his shirt.
"Det!" he panted. "Ah! learn you to halt when the captain says halt!"—Echo Weekly.

SPECKS THAT'S ALL
Sit back and grin at yourself at the world and its ways. Get a real perspective on the importance of the individual or the group of the nation in terms of a noise.
The other day astronomers announced a terrific collision of worlds in the constellation of Orion. Beta Ceti is alive.
But the sound of the crash couldn't possibly reach the earth for astronomical reasons.
Where will all these man-specks be by that time?
If you hear an awful noise somewhere that seems to come from where don't let it frighten you. It may be the sound of a star collision that happened forty of fifty millions of years ago.
And we think the only consolation is important!—Associated Evening News.

THAT "INDIAN-SPRING"
Whenever an Indian gets "old" and comes to a crime and a few of his tribesmen attempt to aid him or counsel him the episode grows to the dignity of an "uprising of the redskins." Nine thousand have been slain in preparation for an excursion to the West. If any of his eyes in his travels seen a white Indian he has seen the last answer in degenerate native America. One of more hard-boiled Indians committing crimes of the same character as those done in popular communities where they are of such high frequency that they are given small attention have stirred the front pages into action in the next week. That these "outbreaks" took place in the most isolated and least visited of the wilderness of the West added to the opportunity for dime novel thrills and thrills.

Had white men performed the feat of escaping from jail and been given aid and assistance by a dozen renegade chiefs, stealing nothing of it east of Denver. The white is famous for its escape made from a nest of ground grasshopper and for his aversion to water for bathing purposes. He is like many a white man potential for trouble when filled with the high voltage moonshine of illicit commerce. But as for an uprising there is no more danger in our own little East than in the sublimely serene of Southern Utah.—Jameville Gazette.

FORD'S MILLIONS—AND BRAINS
Is it an outrage that Henry Ford has several million dollars? While many are puzzled, since he is not the honest labor man, should I protest because of Mr. Ford's income? Henry Ford began life as poor as any of those who now complain because of poverty and want something, done about it. He has enjoyed no opportunities we all do not enjoy today except that he had a better head than the rest of us.
No special laws in the interest of Henry Ford were ever enacted on the contrary laws were adopted to hamper his operations and others of equal ability.
So what we are trying to divide is not money, but brains.
Is there a way to divide up the brains of the country? So far as I can see, the only possible way will be to cut off Henry Ford's head and keep up the process until only the tools are left.
I have lived a long time, and thought as fully and deeply as is possible for me to think. And I have concluded that the tremendous energy of men like Henry Ford is a good thing for the country, and all its inhabitants. Mr. Ford has made hundreds of men rich through his energy. Thousands of others have received high wages and been given opportunity to become rich. I can come to no other conclusion than that the plan of giving every citizen the proceeds of his energy work and savings is the best possible plan for everybody. Were it not such another would have been thought out in centuries of experimentation, and that is the reason I am opposed to Socialism. I do not oppose Socialism because I am vicious and lack sympathy for the poor. E. W. Howes Monthly.

The Tangle
An Intimate Story of Love and Marriage
By Leslie Prescott

LETTER FROM JOHN PRESCOTT, NEWLYWED, TO HIS FRIEND, SYDNEY CARTON
DEAR SYD
I broke off suddenly in my letter to you the other day, for Leslie has the most absurd ideas about one's private correspondence. She wants to read all mine and tenders hers to me to read.
God knows, Syd, I do not want to read her letters full of trivial commonplace and questions about people for whom I care nothing, and certainly I would not have her read my letters to you for the world. It would seem like giving up my entire liberty.
I wanted to tell you about my interview with Leslie's father. It was a "humdinger."
He had me on the carpet that morning after I returned from that business (?) trip for about an hour and he had me going all right. I wasn't sure there was going to be a wedding when I made a clean breast of the affair with Paulette.
At that, Leslie's father is a good sport. In the first place he told me that my firm had not sent for me and in the second place he said he thought that I had bailed up matters greatly. That anyone of sense would have known I was lying and that you were aiding me. He said that only a loving woman who wanted to believe would have been fooled by either you or me.
He said that was why he was ready to forgive me, as he showed him I was not very proficient in the matter of deceiving.
Syd, I told him the whole story, and he said, as you have, that I had made a consummate ass of myself. He said it more forcibly too. However, he continued that, probably ninety-nine men out of a hundred do the same thing every day of their lives.
I asked him if he thought I had better tell Leslie and he answered no. He didn't think she would understand.
I gathered from what he said, although he made no assertions to that effect, that he thought what a woman didn't know wouldn't hurt her. I pigeon-holed that opinion for future use.

He assured me, however, that he would expect me to be absolutely devoted and true to his daughter after marriage, and he affirmed somewhat profanely that he didn't care a damn for me or my feelings in the matter, but he would not have his daughter made unhappy.
"Prescott," he said, "I have never made Leslie's mother suffer one pang of unhappiness on my account and I do not intend that she shall sorrow because some scoundrel like yourself has brought grief to one of her daughters."
I felt pretty low down, Syd. The old man is white and, if for no other reason than because I want his respect, I am going to play the game straight from now on. JACK

SPURNED LOVE
Did you ever love any one and go through the anguish of not having your love returned? In all nature there is no suffering more bitter and diabolical than love spurned or love tolerated in a kindly spirit without being reciprocated.
Rejected love has agonized both sexes in all generations of the past. And it will continue agonizing as long as humanity peoples the earth.
About the finest thing that has ever come to our attention, along this line, is the experience of Rodger Dolan.
Forty years ago, Rodger fell deeply in love with a girl of 18. She treated him kindly—promised to be a sister to him—but as for returning his love, that was impossible. She simply did not love him. And nothing could make her, for love is emotional, not guidable by the reason.
Rodger went through the torments. He paled, grew thin, moped, even hinted darkly at suicide. This latter worried his friends, since it is no uncommon event for spurned love to attempt to extinguish itself in the supposed forgetfulness of death.
Then the girl began falling in love with another. This heaped coals of fire on Rodger's head. He disappeared.
Forty years have slipped by. The other day, Rodger returned to the old home town. He tells what happened:
"I hunted up my old flame and called on her. And I got the shock of my life. This former sweetheart had mellowed with age. She had retained much of her gushy charm. But somehow she no longer appealed to me. It was like the bursting of a beautiful bubble.
"I thought it over, back in my hotel room. And, do you know, I was actually glad that we hadn't married. She had changed. And so had I. When I loved her in youth, she seemed to me the finest in creation. But all this had changed as the years rolled on. I adored her as a rose bud, but when it came to the blossoms of maturity there were others that appealed to me more.
"I couldn't help but think, what a misfortune it would have been for both of us if I had won her for my bride. Inevitably, we would have drifted apart as we matured in opposite directions. This was true of me. I believe it is true of both sexes.
"What I really loved back yonder was, not this girl, but an intangible ideal that she seemed to fit. Time has showed me that I was mistaken, deluded. As she matured and aged, she fitted my ideal like a badly tailored suit of clothes fits my body.
"It cost me a lot of suffering. But I went on my lone way until finally I found another, my wife, who genuinely measured up to my ideal. The girl of my youth remains a sweet memory, but it was unquestionably a case of mistaken identity.
"What fools people are, to commit suicide or brood over love that is not reciprocated, when there are so many millions of other people in the world, and among them some one that will be more appealing. When the real one is met, love will be mutual."

HER MILLIONS
The $38,000,000 heiress to the John W. Gates fortune starts house-keeping in a $50-a-month flat. She and her cartoonist-husband, Lester Norris, move into this small apartment on Main Street of the bride's home town, St. Charles, Ill.
Veteran married people, recalling their own honeymoons, will say, "It won't make much difference where they are, whether in a palace or a hovel—until the honeymoon is over, at least."
Usually it makes a lot of difference after the honeymoon. But there are some mighty happy American families in $50 flats. And some mighty unhappy ones in palaces. Home is where the heart is.
We like this girl's spirit—beginning her real career in a humble flat despite her being heiress to $38,000,000.
There's something wholeheartedly American about it. Not that the average American, heir to such a tremendous fortune, would be content with a $50 apartment. (Would you?) But it's a curious and democratic spectacle that would happen in few, if any, other countries.
Democracy is instilled pretty deeply into Americans. It seems to be in the very air. You catch this occasionally in the news—such things as millionaires going to the circus or movies, enjoying a sack of peanuts, or Henry Ford and wife calling each other "pa" and "ma."
The real snobs are in the third-way class between people of moderate means and folks of big wealth.
And, speaking of snobs, we're developing a peculiar type in our country—an aristocracy of sniffing intellectuals, so-called. Worship of things that hearsay brands as "high-brow," in other words.
You wonder how much this heiress' decision was swayed by her less wealthy cartoonist-husband, in the matter of the $50 flat. It's a safe bet that he'll pay the rent and so on, out of his own income.
That's American, too. You don't catch impoverished European "noblemen" showing any craving for $50 flats when they marry American heiresses. Generally they want a transfer of part of the estate before sharing their title.
The best part of this $50 flat story will come later, when time reveals how long before the $50 flat gives the rich bride ennui. She's a plucky American, though, to "take a crack at it."

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS
By Olive Barton Roberts
The Toy Maker shipped two brand-new airplanes to Bing-Bang Land by express.
The Tinker Man opened them and put the parts all together like the smart tinker man he was.
Then he called Nick. "Which one do you wish to fly in?" he asked. "The one belonging to the wooden soldiers or the one belonging to the tin soldiers?" Which side are you on?"
"I'd better stick to the wooden soldiers," answered Nick. "I cannot be a traitor, sir!"
"Good!" cried the Tinker Man. "But you are too big to run this toy airplane the way you are."
"That is easily fixed," said Nick. "Don't forget that Nancy and I have Magic Shoes."
So he proceeded to wash himself quite small and soon he was in the airplane, learning all there was to know.
Bye and bye he flew away over Bing-Bang Land and all the Bing-Bang Landers cried out, "Oh, look at the queer new bird in the sky!"
Nick flew right over the enemy's country, where he could see down into the camps and find out what everybody was doing.
But something dreadful happened. A tin soldier lifted his gun and shot at Nick's airplane and hit it, breaking one of the wings.
Down crashed Nick and it's a wonder he wasn't killed.
But he wasn't—not even hurt, and he jumped up to find himself surrounded by tin soldiers.
"Take the prisoner off to jail," said General Hobbledochy, the leader of the tin army, "and search him!"
Six tin soldiers hustled Nick away and put him in jail at once.
The first thing he did was to take away his Magic Shoes.
When he did not return Nancy began to worry.

To Use $100 Fund For Dental Work
The $100 which went to the Women's Community Council as their share in the sale of Christmas Seals will be used to pay for the materials to be used in repairing the teeth of children in the public schools who are unable to have otherwise dental attention.
The dentists of the city are donating their services in doing this work which began this week and will be continued until the teeth of the children are in good repair.
It was decided that the $100 would go further in this line of work than in any other. The dentists who are caring for the children's teeth again this year report that they find them in better condition than they were last year when dental work was first taken up in connection with the school children.

FRED FULTON FAILS TO TAKE CHANCE TO WIN

Lets Floyd Johnson Jab Him at Will in Jersey City Boxing Match

New York, April 24.—Opportunity knocked at Fred Fulton's door last night, but Fred was not in. The giant Rochester, Minn., plasterer, one of America's cleverest, yet most knocked-out heavyweight pugilists, gave ground before the light punches of young Floyd Johnson of the west and was outpointed in their 12-round contest in Jersey City. Johnson received the decision of newspaper men at the ring-side.

Fulton was not hurt by Johnson's many punches. After a few rounds he made little effort to defend himself and got only an occasional heart punch to Johnson's heart or head. Fulton had many chances to floor the younger but passed them by. He brought his heavy punching ability to bear only in the last round and had Johnson staggering and hanging on. If he had punched Johnson in the first rounds as he did in the last he would have won.

CARPENTIER TO FIGHT MCTIGUE

New York, April 24.—Promoter Tex Rickard announced that he had matched Mike McTigue, Irish-American conqueror of Battling Siki, and Georges Carpentier, for the world's light heavyweight championship, on July 14, either at the Yankee stadium or Boyle's Thirty Acres.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor in Bismarck and Burleigh county must stop. I do not intend to delve into the past, and what may have been manufactured and sold under any former administration I do not intend to go into, but I will use all the power of the office of State's Attorney to prevent future infractions of the prohibition law, especially as same relates to the manufacture and sale of distilled liquor. My attempt will not be made to punish but to prevent, and will only ask for a penalty against those who may hereafter engage in this unlawful business. Those who may have been guilty in the past must quit. This is meant as a warning to ALL. I doubt if there has ever been a square, honest attempt in Bismarck and Burleigh county to enforce the prohibition law, without fear or favor, who ever it might hit. I am going to try it, and will make every effort to prevent the sale of distilled liquor, in all forms and compounds. The distilled liquor that is sold, at least in most cases, contains some specific poison. I have had several samples analyzed and the ingredients were found to be poisonous. Experts inform me it may blind or kill. I must not wait until some one is made blind or there are a number killed. There is just one thing for those who may have in the past manufactured or sold intoxicating liquor and that is to stop it. This I trust is the only warning that may be necessary to be given by me. I have decided that it is but right to give this notice, and higher officials than myself have so advised. As stated, as far as I am concerned I do not intend to stir up and prosecute for infractions of the prohibition law that occurred in a former administration, but I will keep investigators at work for future offenses, and will from this time use every effort to punish those who offend, high or low. Not only the poor man who may think he must sell moonshine to buy coal or bread, but also the rich man who wants to accumulate more riches. Every one who considers himself friendly towards the present administration will quit. Those who are unfriendly or who are enemies, political or otherwise, should quit. Whether friends or foes they MUST quit. EDWARD S. ALLEN, State's Attorney.

PREUS ORDERS VETS' PROBE

Legion Adjutant Charges Grave Lack of Care

Minneapolis, April 24.—Five hundred war veterans in Minnesota, stricken with tuberculosis, will die unless the government takes steps immediately to build an adequate hospital to give them proper care. That was the charge made by the state department of the American Legion last night through Stafford King, the state adjutant. It is the first charge that will be laid before Adjutant General W. F. Rhinow tomorrow when he opens Minnesota's official inquiry into the care of its sick and disabled veterans of the World war.

The second charge that will be laid before him is that more than 1,000 Minnesota veterans, suffering from tuberculosis and denied hospital care, not only are being sacrificed through neglect, but also are menacing public health in their communities by spreading disease. The official state investigation into charges of neglect of Minnesota's former service men opens tomorrow on orders of Governor J. A. O. Preus, who appointed Adjutant General Rhinow to make the inquiry. The investigation was ordered at the request of the state department of the American Legion. The Legion seeks to have the governor appoint a commission to go to Washington and there take active part in a senatorial inquiry this summer into the work of the Veterans bureau.

to serve group interests, and urged that the primary be made an agent of indisputable party expression rather than a means of party confusion or destruction.

Commenting on the merchant marine and other national questions the President said in part:

"I have made allusion in the beginning to political charts and the good faith of political parties. Sometimes there must be a variation from the charted course because of the unexpected development of impassable shoals. This administration, led by a sponsoring party for a quarter of a century to the building up of a merchant marine was unable to secure the enactment which was believed to be the way to fulfillment. But it would be a small administration which would surrender the aspirations for an American merchant marine and scrap or sacrifice our great merchant fleet in a pique of disappointment over the Senate's favor to give approval.

"For security of defense, for the avoidance of a like extravagance and ineffectual outlay in case of future war, for the promotion of our commerce and our eminence on the sea, I believe a great merchant marine to be the outstanding American requirement. Since we cannot hope for government aid to private ownership we proposed to do our best to organize and consolidate our lines and service, applying the lessons of experience which cost us hundreds of millions of dollars in operation alone, and then offer for sale. If we cannot sell then we shall operate, and operate aggressively, until Congress inhibits.

"One more thought, little expected on this occasion, I am sure, but particularly appropriate before a highly representative body of the American Press. I know from experience how a newspaper man confidently prints opinions on public affairs. He has a marked advantage because he is seldom called upon to make good unless he happens to be elected President. And apparently no newspaper man has ever been put to the test, heretofore. You have been saying a lot about the failure of Congress and the lack of team-work between the executive and Congress and many of you have deplored that some strong man is not in the White House to make Congress do his bidding.

A Great Change

"But a great change has taken place, greatly influencing the work of legislative and administrative fulfillment. This effectiveness is no longer fulfilled by war stress or presidential personality. The great change has come about unawares, and as makers of public opinion you have ignored the fundamental reasons. It is the change in our political system, the rule in the primary, the drift toward pure democracy and the growing impotence of political parties. We have gotten away from the representative system; we have reached a point where the lack of party loyalty has made party sponsorship in government less effective than it was. We have come to the time when a party platform is regarded by too many men in public life as even less important than a scrap of paper, and groups or blocs are turned to serve groups interests, and many individuals serve their own, while contempt for party conference or caucus has sent party loyalty pretty much into the discard."

"I believe in political parties. They were the essential agencies of popular government which made us what we are. We were never perfect, but under our party system we brought a development under representative democracy unmatched in all proclaimed liberty and attending human advancement. We achieved under the party system where parties were committed to policies, and party loyalty was a mark of honor, and an inspiration toward accomplishment. Nowadays in many states party adherence is flouted, loyalty is held to be contemptible, nominations for office are often influenced by voters enrolled under the opposing party banner and platforms are the insincere utterances of expediency, influence by nominees rather than by advocates of principle.

Would Keep Primary

"Let no one misconstrue me. I am not advocating the abandonment of the primary. I would carefully preserve and safe-guard it against the old-time abuses which impelled its adoption, but I would make it an agent of indisputable party expression rather than a means of party destruction or confusion. I like the inculcation of loyalty, the pride of association and the inspiration to accomplishment. I like the party government where purposes are reached in the reasoning of honest representation and I like a party which is commissioned to govern, to strive in good conscience and all loyalty to keep all the pledges which brought it popular approval."

"Our drift today is towards pure democracy and no pure democracy ever long survived. We talk solemnly and earnestly about preserving our world civilization. I have every confidence in its survival, but it may be assured only by human-kind reaching in the reasoning of honest representation and I like a party which is commissioned to govern, to strive in good conscience and all loyalty to keep all the pledges which brought it popular approval."

GRADUATION GOWNS.

White embroidered georgette is a popular material for graduation frocks and wedding gowns. The material itself is so decorative that scarcely any trimming is required.

ALL TIRED OUT

Hundreds More in Bismarck in the Same Plight.

Tired all the time;
Wear and worn out night and day;
Back aches; head aches;
Your kidneys are probably weakened.

You should help them at their work. Let one who knows tell you how. G. W. Burbeck, sta. engineer, Bismarck, says: "I had an attack of lumbago. I could hardly get about, my back was so lame and painful and I felt drowsy and tired. As engineer at the Electric Light Plant, there was more or less exposure to draughts and I blame the colds I took for starting the trouble. My kidneys didn't act regularly and when I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills being so good I began using them. One box cured me up and I had never since had a return symptom of kidney disorder."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Burbeck had. Foster-Millburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

They are the only pills that will do this.

HELPING THE DEALER TO SELL

Every manufacturer appreciates, in some degree, the importance of helping the retailer sell his product. And yet in many instances that degree is very small. It can hardly be compared in importance — so thinks a certain type of manufacturer — with selling the product to the dealer.

It is nothing short of a false assumption, unsound and untrustworthy, to think that merely stocking up the dealer with a product constitutes effective distribution. Effort of that kind, it is true, may dispose of a lot of goods, but it does not sell them. Unless the consumer comes in prepared or disposed to buy them they will remain on the shelf of the dealer, re-orders will be impossible, and the whole product will be a failure.

The safest alternative is for the manufacturer to create a consumer demand through Advertising. This will help the dealer move the goods, and then he will order more.

Advertising is as much a basic part of the business of the manufacturer of any specific trade-marked product as is production and distribution. It is not something that can be considered merely as an expense to be curtailed to the minimum. It is a creative influence which, more than any other thing after the merit of the product, determines the extent of the consumer demand.

Too often the manufacturer thinks of his advertising as a clever means of impressing the dealer with the desirability of stocking up with his goods, and he does enough to accomplish that effect, and then expects the dealer to move the goods. This is a mistaken use of advertising and it quickly reacts upon the manufacturer.

It is the business of the dealer to provide the goods which the public demand. He would be foolish to do otherwise, and would soon cease to be a dealer. It is the business of the manufacturer — meaning specifically, the manufacturer of a trade-marked article, or one that might be trade-marked—to create a consumer demand by means of Advertising.

MUCH BUYING OF WHEAT ON BOARD TODAY

Sudden Advance in Liverpool Market Has Effect on Chicago Board

Chicago, April 24.—Influenced by a sudden advance in Liverpool the wheat market here rose sharply in price today during the early dealings, with liberal buying in prospect. Unfavorable weather acting as a hindrance to seeding Northwest counted also as a bullish factor. The advance at Liverpool was ascribed to active bidding from France, and to indications that Australia was withholding offers. The opening here, which ranged from 1/4 cent to 1 1/2 cent net higher with May $1.25 1/2 to $1.26 and July, $1.23 1/2 to $1.23 3/4, was followed by slightly further gains.

OAKLAND MOTOR CARS SHIPPED IN TRAINLOADS

The Oakland Motor Car company, Pontiac, Michigan, shipped a train- load of cars to the New York branch April 9, the fifth trainload that has been shipped to this branch since the first of the year. The train consisted of 40 special freight cars, which are owned by the Oakland com- pany. Stair and Peterson are local managers.

A similar trainload, which com- prised 40 freight cars was shipped to Buffalo April 4. During this same week a trainload of Oakland's fill- ing 30 freight cars was shipped to the Chicago branch.

The special trainloads mentioned above are in addition to the regular overland drive-aways to nearby points.

W. R. Tracy, assistant sales man- ager, states that every effort is be- ing made to get cars to dealers in time for the spring buying which is opening with a decided rush due to the recent prolonged cold weather.

He reports that railroad equip- ment and facilities for the shipping of motor cars to the West and the Southwest are all right, but that there is still a considerable tie-up on shipments to Eastern points, al- though this is not so bad as it was earlier in the year.

He likewise reports a steady in- crease in the number of closed models being shipped—a general ten- dency noted in the whole industry.

HOLD DR. EVJEN SLATED TO GO

Board of Administration Expected to Hold to Stand

Belief is expressed in state capital circles that the hearing held at the Mayville Normal school on the request of friends of Dr. J. O. Evjen, president of the institution, whom the board of administration had indicated would be asked to resign, hurt rather than helped the chances of Dr. Evjen being retained as head of the institution.

No final action will be taken by the board of administration until members have had opportunity to read the transcript of evidence taken at the hearing and weigh the testimony, it was said. The transcript was completed yesterday, however, and indications are board members will seek to decide the matter definitely as quickly as possible. The general feeling prevails here that the attitude assumed by a few members of the faculty at the hearing at Mayville and admissions made by them did not tend to increase the chances of Dr. Evjen being retained. These admissions and changes are said to involve matters of discipline, qualifications, co-operation and disregard of orders.

FRED FULTON FAILS TO TAKE CHANCE TO WIN

Lets Floyd Johnson Jab Him at Will in Jersey City Boxing Match

New York, April 21.—Opportunity knocked at Fred Fulton's door last night, but Fred was not in. The great Rochester, Minn. plasterer, one of America's cleverest, yet most head-out heavyweights pugilists, gave ground before the light punches of young Floyd Johnson of the west, and was outpointed in their 12-round contest in Jersey City. Johnson received the judgment of newspaper men at the ring-side. Fulton was not hurt by Johnson's many punches. After a few rounds he made little effort to defend himself and got only an occasional heart punch to Johnson's heart or head. Fulton had manachances to floor the youngster but missed them by. He brought his heavy punching ability to bear only in the last round and had Johnson staggering and hanging on. If he had punched Johnson in the first rounds as he did in the last he would have won.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor in Bismarck and Burleigh county must stop. I do not intend to delve into the past, and what may have been manufactured and sold under any former administration I do not intend to go into. I will use all the power of the office of State's Attorney to prevent future infractions of the prohibition law, especially as same relates to the manufacture and sale of distilled liquor. My attempt will not be made to punish but to prevent, and will only ask for a penalty against those who may hereafter engage in this unlawful business. Those who may have been guilty in the past must quit. This is meant as a warning to ALL. I doubt if there has ever been a square, honest attempt in Bismarck and Burleigh county to enforce the prohibition law, without fear or favor, who ever it might hit. I am going to try it, and will make every effort to prevent the sale of distilled liquor. The distilled liquor that is sold, at least in most cases, contains some specific poison. I have had several samples analyzed and the ingredients were found to be poisonous. Experts inform me it may blind or kill. I must not wait until some one is made blind or there are a number killed. There is just one thing for those who may have in the past manufactured or sold intoxicating liquor and that is to stop it. This I trust is the only warning that may be necessary to be given by me. I have decided that it is but right to give this notice, and higher officials than myself have so advised. As stated, as far as I am concerned I do not intend to stir up and prosecute for infractions of the prohibition law that occurred in a former administration, but I will keep investigators at work for future offenses, and will from this time on every effort to punish those who offend, high or low. Not only the poor man who may think he must sell moonshine to buy coal or bread, but also the rich man who wants to accumulate more riches. Every one who considers himself friendly towards the present administration will quit. Those who are unfriendly or who are enemies, political or otherwise, should quit. Whether friends or foes they MUST quit. EDWARD S. ALLEN, State's Attorney.

PREUS ORDERS VETS' PROBE

Legion Adjutant Charges Grave Lack of Care

Minneapolis, April 24.—Five hundred war veterans in Minnesota, stricken with tuberculosis, will die unless the government takes steps immediately to build an adequate hospital to give them proper care. That was the charge made by the state department of the American Legion last night through Stafford King, the state adjutant. It is the first charge that will be laid before Adjutant General W. F. Rhinow tomorrow when he opens Minnesota's official inquiry into the care of its sick and disabled veterans of the World war.

The second charge that will be laid before him is that more than 1,000 Minnesota veterans, suffering from tuberculosis, and denied hospital care, not only are being sacrificed through neglect, but also are menacing public health in their communities by spreading disease.

The official state investigation into charges of neglect of Minnesota's former service men opens tomorrow to orders of Governor J. A. O. Preus, who appointed Adjutant General Rhinow to make the inquiry. The investigation was ordered at the request of the state department of the American Legion. The Legion seeks to have the governor appoint a commission to go to Washington and there take active part in a senatorial inquiry this summer into the work of the Veterans bureau.

To serve group interests, and urged that the primary be made an agent of indisputable party expression rather than a means of party confusion or destruction.

Commenting on the merchant marine and other national questions the President said in part:

"I have made allusion in the beginning to political charts and the good faith of political parties. Sometimes there must be a variation from the charted course because of the unexpected development of impassable shoals. This administration, led by a sponsoring party for a quarter of a century to the building up of a merchant marine was unable to secure the enactment which was believed to be the way to fulfillment. But it would be a small administration which would surrender the aspirations for an American merchant marine and scrap or sacrifice our great merchant fleet in a pique of disappointment over the Senate's favor to give approval.

"For security of defense, for the avoidance of a like extraneous and ineffectual outlay in case of future war, for the promotion of our commerce and our eminence on the sea, I believe a great merchant marine to be the outstanding American requirement. Since we cannot hope for government and to private ownership we proposed to do our best to organize and consolidate our lines and service, applying the lessons of experience which cost us hundreds of millions of dollars in operation alone, and then offer for sale. If we cannot sell then we shall operate, and operate aggressively, until Congress inhibits.

"One, more thought, little expected on this occasion, I am sure, but particularly appropriate before a highly representative body of the American Press. I know from experience how a newspaper man confidently prints opinions on public affairs. He has a marked advantage because he is seldom called upon to make good unless he happens to be elected President. And apparently no newspaper man has ever been put to the test heretofore. You have been saying a lot about the failure of Congress and the lack of teamwork between the executive and Congress and many of you have declared that some strong man is

Every manufacturer appreciates, in some degree, the importance of helping the retailer sell his product. And yet in many instances that degree is very small. It can hardly be compared in importance — so thinks a certain type of manufacturer — with selling the product to the dealer.

It is nothing short of a false assumption, unsound and untrustworthy, to think that merely stocking up the dealer with a product constitutes effective distribution. Effort of that kind, it is true, may dispose of a lot of goods, but it does not sell them. Unless the consumer comes in prepared or disposed to buy them they will remain on the shelf of the dealer, re-orders will be impossible, and the whole product will be a failure.

The safest alternative is for the manufacturer to create a consumer demand through Advertising. This will help the dealer move the goods, and then he will order more.

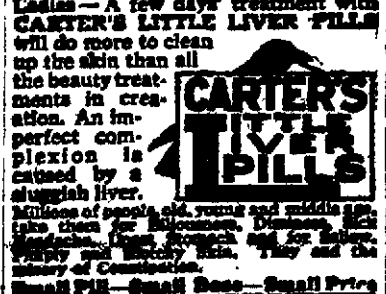

Advertising is as much a basic part of the business of the manufacturer of any specific trade-marked product as is production and distribution. It is not something that can be considered merely as an expense to be curtailed to the minimum. It is a creative influence which, more than any other thing after the merit of the product, determines the extent of the consumer demand.

Too often the manufacturer thinks of his advertising as a clever means of impressing the dealer with the desirability of stocking up with his goods, and he does enough to accomplish that effect, and then expects the dealer to move the goods. This is a mistaken use of advertising and it quickly reacts upon the manufacturer.

It is the business of the dealer to provide the goods which the public demand. He would be foolish to do otherwise, and would soon cease to be a dealer. It is the business of the manufacturer — meaning specifically, the manufacturer of a trade-marked article, or one that might be trade-marked—to create a consumer demand by means of Advertising.

The Grain Marketing System of The Northwest

Chart No. 1 showing the average price at Minneapolis for 29 consecutive crop years, from 1885-86 to 1913-14, on the first day of each month for Onions, Apples, Potatoes and No. 1 Northern Spring Wheat, as shown by Minneapolis Daily Papers and Daily Market Record
THESE 29 YEARS WERE NORMAL YEARS PRECEDING THE WAR

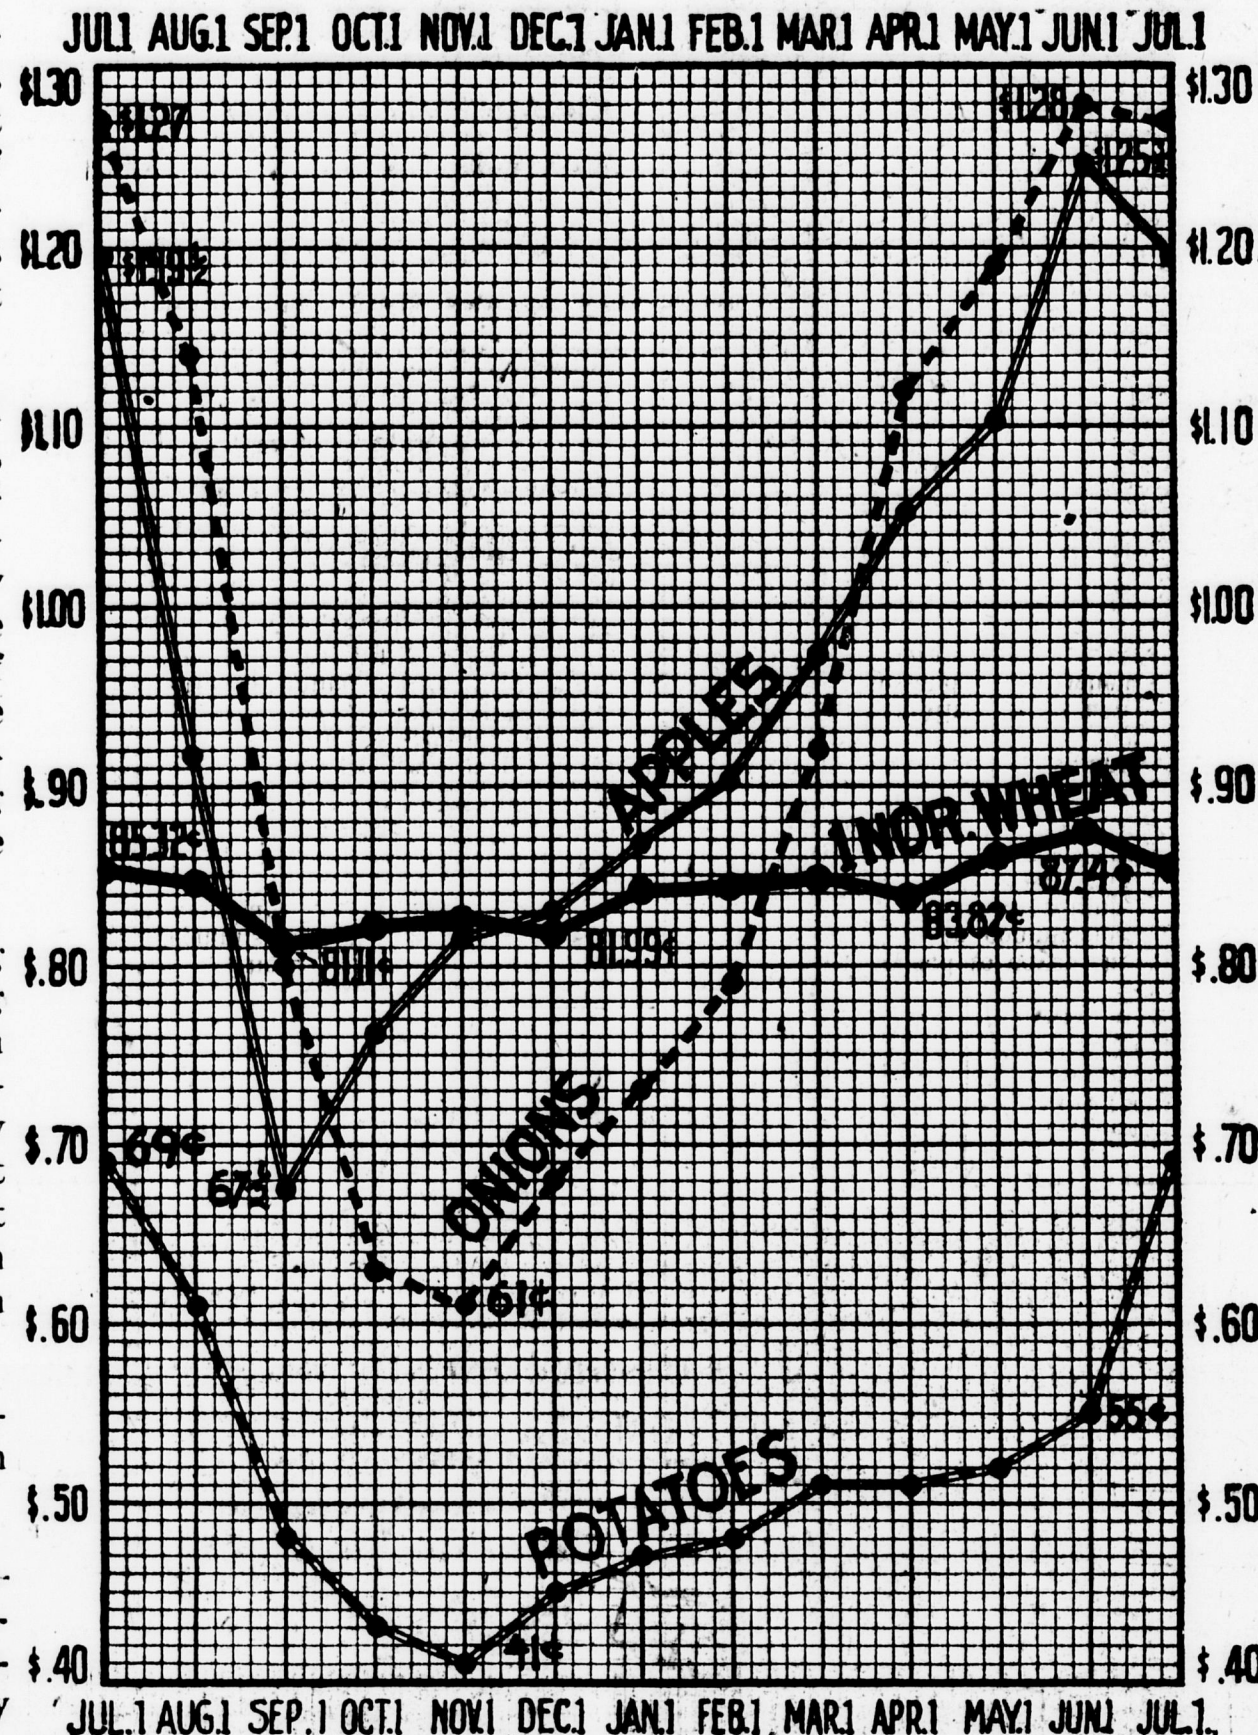

This Chart shows in a striking manner the frightful decline in the price of onions, apples and potatoes every year on the average for 29 years during the first half of the crop year, as compared with the last half of the crop year, and the heavy loss suffered by the producer of onions, apples and potatoes whose necessities compelled him to market these products during the first half of the crop year.

The Chart also shows that the producer of No. 1 Northern Wheat who, either from choice or necessity, marketed his wheat every year for 29 years immediately after harvest, received as good a price (cost of carrying even on the farm considered) as if he had sold every year for 29 consecutive years on June 1st during the period of the lightest crop movement. Two-thirds of the wheat crop in the Northwest is marketed in the months of September, October, November and December. This very heavy marketing, however, taking many years together, has no depressing effect upon the price of wheat during that period, as the chart shows.

The "futures" markets, or the system of buying and selling wheat for "future delivery" in the leading grain exchanges is the cause of the comparatively high price level of wheat during the heavy crop moving period. If the system of "future trading" were seriously injured or destroyed by adverse legislation, no doubt there would be a severe decline in the price of wheat during the first half of the crop year as compared with the last half, as has been the case for many years with onions, apples, potatoes, etc.

The Joint Commission of Agricultural Inquiry appointed by Congress states in their report published in 1922 as follows:

"About 70 per cent of the wheat and a large proportion of the coarse grains as well as of cotton are received at the terminals in the first half of the year following the making of the crop. This fact is thought by many to afford opportunity for speculators or converters to buy the crop at a low price, hold it through storage operations, and later to sell in a higher market. The general impression prevails that prices of farm products during the last half of the crop year are generally higher than in the first half, allowing for the charges for storage, interest, and other costs that attach after the crop is in second hands. A number of studies have been made to determine the truth of this matter. These studies indicate rather conclusively that over a period of years under the existing system of grain marketing the farmer who has sold his crop soon after harvest has come off quite as well as the farmer who has held his grain and sold in the last half of the year."

"It seems altogether likely that the co-operative association cannot succeed as a holding corporation for the purpose of withholding the crops from the market to establish an artificial price. The attempt to accumulate and hold a sufficient proportion of the crop to affect the price involves speculative risk wholly outside of those of the normal business operations, and may result in losses as well as gains and might well result in increasing the price fluctuations from which the farmer now suffers rather than in diminishing them."

No system of "co-operative orderly" marketing of wheat on a "pooling" plan with 5 year contracts with the farmers, could possibly produce a better "level" of prices during the crop year than now results from the system of "future trading." Co-operative "orderly" marketing of onions, apples and potatoes might improve the price level of these commodities throughout the crop year, as shown by Chart No. 1, to the great advantage of the producer of these products whose necessities compel him to market his crop shortly after harvest.

CASH VALUE OF NO. 1 DARK NORTHERN WHEAT FROM JAMESTOWN, N. D., AT MINNEAPOLIS, MARCH 20, 1923, $1.24 PER BUSHEL

FARMER AT JAMESTOWN, NORTH DAKOTA, WOULD RECEIVE IN CASH FROM LOCAL FARMER OR LINE HOUSE ELEVATOR $1.05 PER BUSHEL.

This Space Represents the Farmer's Share of the Terminal Price.

Local elevators gross buying margin 7 cents per bushel	Railroad freight charge to Minneapolis 12 cents per bushel
--	--

CHART NO. 2—This chart shows in a striking manner the cash value at Minneapolis on March 20, 1923, No. 1 Dark Northern Wheat of the quality produced around and shipped from Jamestown, N. D., and stations in that vicinity, having a freight rate to Minneapolis of 12 per bushel on wheat, and the manner in which this cash value at Minneapolis would be distributed.

This chart shows that of the Minneapolis price the farmer would receive at the farmers co-operative or line house local elevator at Jamestown, N. Dak., $1.05 per bushel—that the farmers or line house local elevator would receive 7 cents per bushel, the present gross buying margin, that the railroad would receive 12 cents per bushel for transporting this wheat to Minneapolis; these three amounts added together equalling the cash value of 1 Dark Northern Wheat of that quality at Minneapolis on that date, based on the closing cash prices.

Those who might think that the 7 cent gross margin taken by the farmers co-operative local elevator is large, should remember that this seven cents must cover the following items: First, this 7 cents is divided up as follows: The farmer elevator companies allow 5 cents of this to cover the local expenses at the station and 2 cents to cover the terminal expenses at Minneapolis.

The 5 cents for local expenses must cover the salary of the elevator manager, the local taxes on the elevator, the repairs to the elevator, the gasoline used by the engine, losses in grades, insurance on the elevator and the grain in the elevator, freight on the dirt or dockage in the grain shipped, interest on money borrowed, etc. Whether the 5 cents is sufficient to cover these items and show a reasonable profit on the investment depends largely on the volume of business handled and on the efficiency of the manager.

The recent report of the Federal Trade Commission on Country Grain Marketing states that the gross buying margin of No. 1 Northern Wheat at farmers' co-operative elevators during the five crop years from 1912-17 was 6.39 cents per bushel and that the gross buying margin of "line" elevators at country stations during the same period was 5.39 cents per bushel.

It is a well known fact that local elevators at country stations, owing to competitive conditions, tend to over-grade the grain they purchase, and for many years the records of the State Inspection Department show that the country elevators show a loss of grades at the terminal market,—that is, that year after year the grades allowed to the farmer at the country station by the local elevators are higher than the grades secured by the local elevators when the grain arrives at Minneapolis and Duluth.

The 2 cents allowed for terminal expenses is intended to cover the commission of 1½ cents per bushel charged by the grain commission merchant at Minneapolis for selling the wheat on its arrival at Minneapolis, also ¼ cent per bushel charged by the dealer in "futures" who buys and sells the wheat future as a hedge for the farmer's elevator company, also the State weighing and inspection fees, etc.

For the 1½ cents commission, the cash grain commission merchant must not only sell the wheat for the best possible price but he must keep the farmers elevator constantly advised as to values at Minneapolis and other terminal markets, and must call for re-inspection and appeal when he considers that the grain is not correctly graded. Grain commission merchants usually supply the farmers elevator companies with the money with which to buy the grain, and at rates of interest lower than the elevator company would be required to pay elsewhere. These commission merchants are licensed by the Railroad & Warehouse Commission of Minnesota, and heavily bonded for the protection of the shipper.

The dealer in "futures" charges ¼ cent per bushel for selling the "future" as a "hedge" for the farmers elevator company, "carrying" this hedge until the cash wheat arrives at Minneapolis and is sold, and then "buying in" the hedge.

A wheat grower in the Northwest has many methods of marketing open to him. He can sell his No. 1 Northern Wheat to the local farmers elevator or "line house" elevator for cash, in which case he would receive the Minneapolis or Duluth values less freight and 7 cents, the gross buying margin at the elevator.

Or he can store the wheat in the local elevator and secure an advance of 75 per cent of its value from the local elevator company at a very reasonable rate of interest—at present about 6 per cent.

Or he can load his wheat into a car himself and ship it to Minneapolis to any licensed and bonded grain commission merchant to be sold "on arrival," and he will then secure the full Minneapolis market price, less freight, 1½ cents commission, and the fees charged by the State of Minnesota for inspection and weighing.

Or he can have the local elevator load his wheat into a car, and in North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota, at present the maximum charge permitted by law is 2 cents per bushel. In this case he avoids the trouble of loading his own car and receives the full Minneapolis market value less 2 cents per bushel local elevator charge, freight, 1½ cents commission, and state inspection and weighing fees.

Or if he wishes to store his wheat at Minneapolis he can have his wheat placed in any one of 32 large public terminal elevators, having a total storage capacity of over 38 million bushels. His wheat will be inspected or graded into these elevators by State or Federal inspectors, will be weighed in and out by State Weighmen, and will be inspected out by State inspectors. These public terminals are heavily bonded, and the maximum legal charge they can make is 1½ cents per bushel for elevating into the elevator and later loading out, and 15 days' storage. After 15 days the maximum charge permitted by law is 1-30th of a cent per bushel per day. The farmer would receive a terminal warehouse receipt in this case, and this form of "collateral" is so valuable that he could borrow probably 90 per cent of its value at the lowest going rates of interest.

The farmer who holds his wheat on his farm "speculates" upon it. That is, he runs the risk of a loss through a fall in the price or the chance of a gain through a rise in the price.

This speculative risk is not lessened by "pooling." Farmers who "pool" their wheat simply enter into a "joint speculation." A 100 per cent pooling plan is a 100 per cent speculative plan. Instead of speculating on his own wheat a farmer who "pools" his wheat simply turns it over to others to speculate with. A farmer considering signing a five year pooling contract might do well to first inquire as to the results secured by those who have joined "wheat pools" in the Northwest during recent years.

Out of every 100 cents paid in 1921 by the housewife for bread, the grain dealer and flour miller together only received three and four-tenths cents, the balance or ninety-six and six-tenth cents being shared by the wheat grower, the railroads, the baker and the bread retailer. (See Page 209, Vol. 4 of the report of The Joint Commission of Agricultural Inquiry of the U. S. Congress, published in 1922.)

What Other Farm Product of the Northwest is Marketed with Such Low Cost and High Efficiency as is Grain?
